A Time of Change

by Dr. Edward Alvey, Jr.

There come times in the life of an institution when changes of far-reaching importance seem to come in rapid succession, often without warning. Such has been the experience here at Mary Washington where, in the space of two weeks, the President announced his retirement and the Vice President died unexpectedly.

The announcement of Dr. Grellet C. Simpson's retirement had been anticipated. In fact, he intimated at the commencement exercises in May 1973 that the coming session would be his last at Mary Washington. On September 8, 1973, he requested the Board of Visitors to permit him to retire in June 1974. The Board acceded to his request and appointed the members of its Executive Committee to seek a successor. Dr. Simpson agreed to serve until this appointment is made.

The members of the Executive Committee are: Lewis M. Walker, Rector; Irene L. Brown '39, Vice Rector; Katherine E. Hopper '29, Secretary; Gwendolyn A. Cumming '52; and Ralph M. Whitticar, III.

Eighteen years have passed since Dr. Simpson's selection to head the College in September 1955. He took office at the beginning of the second semester, and on February 1, 1956, he and Mrs. Simpson moved into Brompton.

These have been happy years for the College. Dr. Simpson's own love of learning was shared with faculty and students. His philosophy of education, so capably analyzed and discussed by Dr. Reginald W. Whidden in this issue of MWC Today, became the guiding force in shaping the future of the College. Good teaching became the most important concern of the institution. The faculty was increased in number to permit smaller classes and to reduce teaching load. Students were rigorously selected by a Committee on Admissions. The curriculum was expanded to include a rich offering on the junior and senior levels. Major programs were strengthened both in the number and in the quality of courses available. Both admission and graduation requirements were progressively raised. The institution grew in academic prestige, and its reputation for sound scholarship spread. A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was installed.

Growth of the physical plant took place on a scale that few persons realize. A new science hall, a new physical education building, and many new dormitories were erected between 1956 and 1973. Student life was transformed through the liberalization of regulations governing conduct and the implementation of Dr. Simpson's idea of freedom with responsibility. The Alumni Association increased in membership and in influence, with a new headquarters and a full-time staff. The Association extended its activities to include projects of benefit both to the College and to the alumni.

More recently, coeducation has come to the College and separation from the University of Virginia. Mary Washington now stands at the threshold of a new era, with new challenges to be faced and new responsibilities to be met. There are also new opportunities awaiting this ever-developing institution.

What of the days ahead now that President Simpson, the second oldest college president in Virginia in point of service, is preparing to leave the office in George Washington Hall that he has occupied so graciously and so successfully? Fortunately for the College, there are those who have worked with him in planning the future of the College. The President has gathered people about him who have shared his ideas and helped to set goals for the future. A highly capable Board of Visitors is devoting its full attention to Mary Washington. A strong Alumni Association is giving rich service to the institution. The lines of future development are already becoming evident with the announcement of a comprehensive scholarship program for capable students. A continuing role of service as an outstanding institution of higher learning seems assured.

Unfortunately, a man who worked closely with Dr. Simpson throughout his years at the College will not be here to share this future. Michael Houston's death on September 2, 1973, was a sudden blow. It is hard to realize that he is gone. However, his influence has left its impress upon the College and will be a sustaining force in the days ahead. A tribute to Vice President Houston appears elsewhere in this issue. He will be missed - missed greatly - but his work will be carried on by others closely associated with him. It was part of his genius, as it has been of Dr. Simpson's, to select capable and devoted colleagues to assist with the manifold duties and responsibilities of college administration. The organizational structure of the College is sound, thanks to the careful planning of President Simpson and Vice President Houston.

And so, Mary Washington enters a new era in the days ahead. However, I feel that we can face the future with confidence. Our loyalty and support can help to assure a continuing role of greatness for the institution that we all love.

'Tradition and change': 18 Years of Educational Thinking

by Dr. Reginald W. Whidden

Mary Washington College stands now as an independent academic institution with its own Board of Visitors, no longer either a woman's college alone or a part of the University of Virginia; President Simpson, after some eighteen years of distinguished leadership, is anticipating his retirement. It seems appropriate at this time to look back and try to see what principles governed his educational policy and achievements.

Those of us who were fortunate to hear him speak at the Chancellor's Convocation or at Commencement during those years remember how consistently and how effectively he set the tone for the session that was beginning or expressed to the graduates an ideal for their lives in the years to come. We remember, too, that he provided a kind of influence and guidance which resulted in continued effort by both students and faculty to clarify the goals of the College, to improve its academic program, and to elevate its intellectual standards.

The College Archivist, Miss Barbara Alden, has made available to me all of Dr. Simpson's major speeches from the time of his appointment as Chancellor of Mary Washington College. Out of these I shall try to distill his principal educational ideas and ideals and show how changing conditions led to their modification and renewal.

In his early statements to the Mary Washington community (and I'm sure long before that) he made clear his devotion to the concepts of liberal education - or, as he insisted, of producing liberally educated persons. Speaking in February 1956 to a convocation of Mary Washington students and faculty, he expressed some of his chief convictions, which he elaborated with considerable power the next month in a Founders' Day address at the University of Virginia.

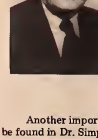
He emphasized the fact that the substance of the liberal arts curriculum has changed and expanded since the quadrivium of the Middle Ages, but that the constancy of purpose which originally animated it has survived all the cultural shifts which have occurred since. Then he proceeded to suggest four virtues which the liberally educated person should acquire. First of these, and etymologically the original quality, is that of intellectual freedom, coupled with a sense of obligation or responsibility - more or less what he was to describe later as "obedience to the unenforceable." Second is faith, a belief in something with significance beyond and greater than the limited behavior of individual men and women. Third is the cultivated will to learn, to grow, to search for truth. Fourth, and crown of the benefits to be derived from liberal studies, is what we know variously as maturity, human understanding, or wisdom.

He was to advert to these qualities of the liberally educated person again and again, but the particular expression of two of them deserves quotation.

In his Commencement address of 1967, for instance, he reminded his audience that, "In a college's existence, there is one aspect of its essential character that can and must never be overshadowed in any way, shape, or form. A college must be a center of free inquiry and criticism of all aspects of life and thought; this aspect of its being cannot be, and should never be, sacrificed for anything else — no matter what the reason, the cause, the consequences, or the results."

A few years earlier, at the September convocation, he had dealt with the same theme, warning the students that "It will be tragic for your world, and for you in particular, to lose sight of, or to submerge, the concept of the college as a place of questing and questioning, where people learn not so much how to succeed, with or without trying, as how to strive; and where truth is pursued, for no other reason than the love of truth and the beauty that emanates from the pursuit."

At the Commencement exercises of 1971 he gave special emphasis to the effect of a liberal education on the individual student, telling the graduates that "The objectives of education, with their results, have to do with individuals — with persons — with the realization of the self, with the continuing growth, expansion, development, and the ultimate expression of individual personality. Education becomes, therefore, a matter of the individual will. If a person has been educated, is educated, or is being educated, that person must have wanted, wants, or still wants to be educated. It should be a process perennially in full flower, a never-ceasing act of the will. In talking about the responsibility of the educated, I am, therefore, referring to one who has, by the process of willing, achieved a state of being that can carry the burden, as well as the happiness, of responsibility."



MWC President

Grellet C. Simpson

Another important group of ideas is to be found in Dr. Simpson's Inaugural Address, delivered in October 1956. It is significant of the steadfastness of his educational thinking that, in his latest Commencement speech, that of May 1973, he deliberately returned to the earlier statement and entitled the revision "Inauguration Revisited."

As he had done in 1956, he again insisted that, whatever else a college may do for its students, its primary obligation is "to develop and train the student's mind" — adding, "I would like to include the teacher's mind, as well as the student's mind." He goes on to discuss four qualities which the developed, the liberally educated intellect displays, each of the four associated in his thinking with a literary monument. Milton's "Lycidas" manifests for him the will to think, the will to prepare, the will to serve. Paradise Lost illustrates the need to exercise a capacity for informed, thoughtful -- not purely emotional — choice. Synge's Playboy of the Western World suggests the necessity, for the balanced intellect, of conceptions found only in the comic spirit. And Archibald MacLeish's poem on Arnold's "Dover Beach" includes a metaphor which may represent the joy and excitement that come, and may continue to come, "in the wild smother of teaching and being taught."

This last phrase, of course, is a poetic expression of another concept frequently found in academic theorizing but given unusual force here and elsewhere in Dr. Simpson's words — that of the special power of the academic community, the community of scholars, to liberate the mind and the spirit. For him the activities of learning and teaching have always been a mutual interchange in the process of growth which involves student, teacher, and college. He would not separate the act of teaching from the act of learning, however much he valued the good teacher. As he said at a Chancellor's Convocation in 1964, ". . . instruction and education need not be or do the same thing — in fact one can be almost the enemy of the other. Instruction may become dogma, propaganda, prejudice — partially formed opinion — everything that the cultivated intellect would consider hase and unworthy of a society of free men dedicated to the pursuit of Truth."

One of his most firmly held convictions is that the liberal arts college has a unique, an invaluable role to play in higher education today, a day in which specialized research and technical expertise are held in such high esteem and are so well rewarded. As he put it in September 1965:

"No one challenges the special role or responsibility of a university in our dry to train the specialist. We expect this achievement from our universities and we take just pride in their accomplishments. My concern is that the unique role of the undergraduate liberal arts college will not be fully realized as it should be, as the place — maybe the only place — for the education of the challenger of the specialist — whoever he may be and whatever subject materials he may be exploring, and whatever creative role he may be playing at any given place or time. There is really no other place and no other time in our pattern of higher education where, by heritage and conviction, we can be taught to challenge those who, for the moment — whether they be scientists, priests, or financiers . . . feel that their experiment of knowing is the only experiment worth undertaking, and their investigation the only valid one, and that therefore their result must be essentially all Truth.

"We should, rather, make the assumption that the experiment of knowing must concern itself with questions of meaning, questions of standards and tradition, questions of commitment and involvement, and questions, yes, questions of values, including moral, ethical, and even spiritual values."

It should be recognized that these words do not constitute an attack on science or technical information themselves. As he makes clear elsewhere, President Simpson believes that both of "the two cultures" contribute to the liberal disciplines and contain essential food for the liberally educated mind.

If any alumni readers of these words are wondering what views Dr. Simpson has expressed on the subject of education especially for women, they may be assured that he discussed and disposed of this as an actual problem soon after he came to Mary Washington. Addressing the Alumnae Association in the spring of 1956, he disavowed any omniscience about women's education but insisted that it had long since been clear that "Women are as smart and therefore as educable as men . . . ." Individual women may have to pattern their education on the roles they choose to play in society, just as men do, he recognized, but the most important thing for them to do in college is to learn to think. In addition, because "the nurture of the liberal and fine arts has gravitated more and more towards the hands of women," they should make a special effort to nourish and preserve human values and purposes and that creative arts which most adequately give form to their expression." But in fact a woman's education "should contain the common core of knowledge, methods of thought, and standards of value which form the essence of a liberal education."

With whatever wit and sensitivity he may have responded to the fact that his audiences during his first years were for the most part feminine, when he talked to them about education, their education, he recognized them not as women but as human beings.

Dr. Simpson's tenure at Mary Washington College has occurred in a period of American life deeply affected by a pervasive fermentation of social attitudes and ideals, especially among young people. This has produced significant changes in human relationships and standards, accompanied inevitably by important modifications in American education. Colleges and universities — especially state institutions, it would seem — have been confronted by some major problems, such as the obligation to bring about racial integration; the inordinate pressures for admission to college, followed more recently by an unanticipated shrinking in the number of applicants; student demands for participation in educational policy making and procedures; and a general tendency toward permissiveness by both faculty and students, not only in personal conduct and group regulation but also in matters of course offerings, degree requirements, and methods of instruction.

Many college and university heads have been unwilling or unable to cope with all these (and similar) problems and have simply resigned, so that the average tenure of a college or university president in this country has become about three years. That President Simpson has greatly exceeded this span of endurance is partly because of his perceptive understanding of students and faculty as individuals and as groups and his deftness in answering and even anticipating their sometimes conflicting claims. But more important reasons for his success have been that his educational principles have been broad — broad enough to accommodate new emphases in curriculum, new methods of instruction; that he knows the concept of the liberal arts since its origin has been fixed only in its essential goals and purposes; and that he has always been aware of what should be a truism for us all — that life means growth and growth is almost synonymous with change, in education as in other kinds of human development.

ACADEMIC UNREST

He gave very substantial acknowledgement of the transformations that were taking place as he opened the session of 1968-69. Speaking at least as much to the faculty as to the undergraduates he said, ". . . we all know that the academic community of ten years ago no longer exists and the bonds which have tied the group together have been cut irreparably — and perhaps, and hopefully, for the good of all its citizens. We, therefore, should not waste our time seeking to reestablish a community that apparently has outlived its usefulness, no longer is prepared or geared to deal progressively with the problems of the modern intellectual world. Rather we should seek to find new ways to draw the community together once again, to discover or create new freedoms to attract our loyalties and our affections; new goals and new horizons that can now be invisioned within a renewed and revitalized community — a community of scholars of all ages, of all races, of all creeds, of all national or geographical distinctions — of all peoples who wish to join the community and enjoy its benefits."

If some of his student or faculty listeners were surprised at these words and felt some consternation at the prospect of the hard thinking and varied adjustments needed to establish the new academic community, they should have gone back to some of Dr. Simpson's earlier statements. He had reminded the Commencement audience in 1962 that "the intellectual life of mankind is never and shall never be tranquil or even serene," and in September of the following year he had declared, "Today, I think the intellectual climate of a true college really demands that we make .... the assumption that the life and thought of all times, for both human and non-human entities, has been, and forever will be, a complex, contradictory, or inconsistent, and at times illogical but mysterious labyrinth — and secondly [that we] . . . accept the responsibility . . . the chief responsibility of education . . . to reveal the complexity and diversity rather than the simplicity of our world."

These words were at least as appropriate to the problem of the academic community in 1968 as they had been when they were spoken, and perhaps they are equally appropriate today. However, that may be they seem to foreshadow the present academic program of the College, with its emphasis on individual study, its highly flexible degree programs, and its various potentials for pursuing a major program and, more important, for gaining some comprehension of the complexity and diversity of the world.

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

Notice how often in the passages I have quoted we find expressed or implicit the paramount importance of the individual student; the responsibility of the college to provide for the person engaged in the process of a liberalizing education, and the responsibility of the individual student to master the instruments of the mind in pursuing truth and acquiring the capacity to make wise choices. It has been President Simpson's conviction for many years that, if given the opportunity to make decisions, undergraduates in a liberal arts college will learn to make wise ones. As he observed to the seniors of the Class of 1968, ". . . you have changed from an individual who was largely disciplined from without to one who, almost totally, is now disciplined from within."

If we understand this fundamental of the President's thought, we may find it easier to understand why it was possible for him to accept the changing social and moral values of Mary Washington College students and to delegate to them more power in determining their own social regulations and personal conduct. Many of you will recall what he said to the alumni at Homecoming in 1972: "One other aspect of the new freedom is the complete rejection by young people of the role of an institution as being in loco parentis. This touches not only the academic life of the college, it touches the social life, the individual experience of the students, as well as of the faculty. I know that many of us would find it much easier to operate if the principle of in loco parentis for institutions were effective. But it's as dead as a dodo in the minds of most young people.

He was recognizing here the difficulty which many older persons — legislators, parents, even faculty members — had in accepting the new attitudes of college students. Yet he himself always had held out the only ultimate substitute for the anomalies of institutuional regulation of the social conduct and morality of undergraduate students — the educated individual's responsibility for making wise choices. And this has always been in his mind one of the major goals of liberal education. The changes adopted by the College may have been for him troublesome at times, but they were inevitable if the new community of scholars was to function with the same sympathies as the old, the same freedom to question and inquire, and the same essential goal for the institution — producing liberally educated persons.

I have attempted to distill from many speeches delivered over almost eighteen years what I believe to be President Simpson's essential educational ideas — at least those which he shared with us and used to stimulate our thinking as we worked with him for the advancement of the College and the welfare of its students. What I am unable to convey adequately in such a condensation is the individuality of his presentation. Although his addresses have no invariable method, by any means, they are good illustrations of the correspondence of style and the man — in this instance a subtle, complex, and sensitive personality.

Perhaps most obvious in his style is the abundance of literary allusion, paraphrase, and particularly quotation — not for the sake of embellishment but as an organic part of the development of thought and affective expression. He may use a poem as a text, a passage from Thucydides as a commentary, a stanza from Yeats or Spender or MacLeish or Frost as a source for a theme. Again and again what he says takes on a power of phrase, a transfusion of image and sentiment, from his interpretation of the poetic language of his literary masters. The result, of course, is something far more flexible, more vivid, more colorful than the kind of prose we usually hear from the academic platform. And, as he delivered his speeches, they affected his audience as poetic prose does, by their ideas, by their imagery, and by their rhythms.

Since his purpose was often more to move and exhort than to analyze or explicate, his ideas do not always advance in mathematical order; nor does he refrain from the pleasure of repeating his meaning in varied forms, as if offering his audience a view of their different facets while relishing their changing lights himself. Some of his most effective passages have the fullness (the "copia") of seventeenth century prose writers.

I suspect that students did not always understand the full significance of what he was saying, since he would not stoop to the commonplace and his style was so often allusive. But hundreds of those who have listened to him could close their eyes today, imagine they were once again in George Washington auditorium, hear the timbre and the cadence of his voice, and recall something of the exaltation he inspired.

This is not the place to describe the working out of President Simpson's ideas in the program and organization of the College. Dr. Alvey's history of Mary Washington, now at the printer's will do that very successfully. Nor is this the time to predict what the institution will be like in twenty, thirty, or fifty years. We may be certain, however, that whatever changes occur, Dr. Simpson's achievements and the impact of his thought will persist, for his educational concepts and ideals belong to a lasting tradition. They already have had a decisive effect in shaping the permanent character of Mary Washington College.

Former Dean of the College, Dr. Whidden is a Professor Emeritus of English.

In Fond Memory:
Michael Houston

Michael Houston, 42, Vice President and Associate Professor of History at Mary Washington College, was stricken with an apparent heat stroke and died Sunday, September 2, 1973.

Mr. Houston was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va., and earned Masters Degrees in History and in Communications from the American University, Washington, D.C. The Richmond, Va., native served as Director of the News Bureau and head of the Placement Office at Randolph-Macon College before joining the Mary Washington College staff in 1957. Here, he served for ten years as Director of Admissions and for five years concurrently as Director of Information Services and as instructor in the academic departments of English and History. He was appointed Assistant to the Chancellor in March, 1967, and was made Vice President for Administration in 1972. He also served as an administrative liaison to the Board of Directors of the Mary Washington College Alumni Association.

Mr. Houston, a veteran of the Korean War, was a member of numerous professional and honorary organizations, including Omicron Delta Kappa, Pi Gamma Mu, Pi Delta Epsilon, and Sigma Phi Epsilon (social). In Fredericksburg, he was on the Board of Directors of the Bank of Virginia and was a member and vestryman at the Trinity Episcopal Church.

He is survived by his wife, Miriam Gore Houston, and two children, Mary Kathryn and Ann Carol, and by his father, Charles Houston, of Richmond and Barboursville.

Funeral services were held at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Fredericksburg on Tuesday, September 4, with interment at Oak Hill Cemetery.

The family requested that memorial contributions be sent to Mr. Frantz, Director of Personnel, Mary Washington College, for a purpose to be decided on later.

A Tribute:

"Michael Houston accepted his responsibilities at Mary Washington College with single-minded devotion. Though he had one goal, he found many ways to serve. In 1957 he was awarded his first appointment. Other appointments followed, each more demanding than the previous one. These appointments were earned, at first, by developing abilities; later they were also a tribute to his complete absorption in the growth and welfare of the College. With wry humor Mike used to say, "When you can't tell which office to go to for help, bring your question to me." This was no idle comment, for Mike worked with people so sincerely, so respectfully, so sensitively that opposing points of view lost their sharpness and solutions seemed to emerge naturally and easily–as though there had been "no problem at all." In such situations Mike was responding to an inner urge rather than to administrative necessity, for he had a tremendous capacity for finding personal satisfaction in public and professional service. Unhurried counselor of students, open-minded colleague of faculty members, fair and understanding administrator, persevering scholar in his academic discipline, Michael Houston made possible many of the accomplishments and much of the recognition which Mary Washington has achieved in the last sixteen years. Despite an untimely death, he has left this campus community a legacy of infinite value."

1972-1973 Annual Report

When the 1972-73 Alumni Association year began July 1, 1972, Mary Washington College began a new chapter in its history by becoming an independent state college with its own Board of Visitors. The majority of those Visitors are alumni of the College. This has been a year of progress for the College and it certainly has been one of growth for the Alumni Association.

In August we welcomed a new Director of Alumni Affairs, Mrs. Diana D. Koski. She has served us ably this year and we are pleased she will continue to work in this office for the coming year. Diana is assisted by her efficient secretary, Mrs. Mary D. Shover, and a new clerk-typist, Miss Sharlene Toney.

Your Board of Directors met three times during the year and the Executive Committee met five times. During these meetings decisions were made regarding policy, program and finances of the Association. Working sessions were held by numerous committees in order for the many responsibilities of the Association to be fulfilled. Successes can be reported in a number of areas.

Alumni Fund contributions totaled $32,815.06 this year, an increase of 27% over last year. We look forward to increased giving and participation next year because much important groundwork was laid this year for future fund solicitations.

Homecoming 1973 was enjoyed by all, but the 1974 Homecoming weekend promises to be even more exciting. The date is April 26-27, so mark your calendar. Several important events will be featured, including honoring President Simpson upon his retirement, the first offering of Dean Alvey's soon-to-be-published History of Mary Washington College, and the celebration of the Alumni Association's 60th anniversary.

Chapter activity has been vigorous. Not only have chapters contributed $1,848.40 to the Fund, but also new groups have been formed in Charlottesville and Southern New Jersey. Chapters can call on the Alumni Office, as many have done this year, for help in program-planning and mailings to all area alumni.

A first, a newsletter, The MWC Volunteer, has gone to all class agents, chapter officers, and fund agents. Its purpose is to keep them informed and aid them in their important work for the Association.

The Bylaws of the Association have been completely rewritten to give alumni a strengthened and efficient organizational structure. These will go into effect July 1, 1974. One important change is that this spring the officers of the Association will be elected directly by the membership rather than by the Board of Directors, as is presently done.

The Distinguished Alumnus Award committee is already receiving nominations for the 1974 award. You may send your suggestions in to the Spotswood Alumni House. The D. A. Award is presented annually at Homecoming and this year's very worthy recipient was Camilla Moody Payne.

Mr. Arthur Schlesinger was the 1973 Distinguished Visitor in Residence at the College several days in April. This stimulating program, financed by alumni gifts, was well received by the College community and plans are underway for obtaining the 1974 Distinguished Visitor.

The committee on Nominations to the Board of Visitors of the College has been in close touch with the Governor's Office. Should a Board vacancy arise, nominations are ready with detailed biographical data and endorsements. All past Board members appointed by the Governor have been selected from our Alumni Association list of nominees, which attests to the good work done in this important area.

Black and white prints of scenes around the Mary Washington campus sketched by Dr. Atalay have been purchased by many alumni, but some still remain to be sold. These matted prints are quite lovely and may be ordered from the Spotswood Alumni House.

The Student-Alumni Relations Committee sponsored two successful "Examination-Relief Stations" in Spotswood during first and second semester reading days and exams. These were greatly appreciated by the students.

The Mary Washington College Alumni Award to the outstanding senior was presented to Christine Kostek of Berkeley Heights, New Jersey, this year. The award of a silver bowl will be presented annually to a senior who has excelled in scholarship and service to the College. This award replaces the Thomas Jefferson Cup, which commemorated Mary Washington's becoming part of the University of Virginia.

Five issues of the publication, MWC Today, were mailed to all alumni whose addresses are known. These included information about the College and the Alumni Association, as well as news from class agents about former classmates. We appreciate the good work done by our class agents. Theirs is an important job.

This spring Spotswood Alumni House was completely redecorated downstairs, making it a warm and inviting place for students, alumni, parents and faculty to visit. We hope you will stop in to see this center of alumni activities when you are in Fredericksburg. You will be made most welcome.

Another first this year was the Alumni Association's sponsorship of an AITS planned trip to Hawaii in May. The response to the trip was so good that a second trip to Majorca is being offered for October 26, 1973. Reservations may be made through the Alumni Office. Already alumni are enthusiastically signing up for this trip and it appears that it will be a sellout. The Association plans to offer other interesting trips to alumni at regular intervals.

From the Alumni Fund, money has been given to the President's Unrestricted Fund. This Fund is set up to finance scholarships for faculty, students and alumni as well as special projects deemed important by the President for which state funds could not be used.

At its last Board meeting the Directors of the Association voted to honor President Simpson upon his retirement in June of 1974 in a two-fold manner: first, we have commissioned Eric Isenburger to paint a portrait of Dr. Simpson to be presented to the College at the 1974 Homecoming, and second, we have established the Grellet C. Simpson Scholarship for undergraduate study abroad to be awarded annually, the first recipient being named at Homecoming '74. A portion of each gift to the Alumni Fund in 1973-74 will be used to finance these retirement honors and a scroll naming all Fund contributors will be prepared. The Directors believe that these will be appropriate honors for President Simpson and will benefit the College. We anticipate enthusiastic alumni support.

The final act of the Board of Directors was to elect the new officers for 1973-74. We can look forward to an outstanding year under the capable leadership of:

Connie Bennett Elliott '53 - President
Anne Hilgartner Bruckner '61 - Alumni Fund Vice President
Virginia Felts Brown '50 - Homecoming Vice President
Jane Bradley '68 - Chapters Vice President
Edna Gooch Trudeau '59 - Classes Vice President

My thanks go to each of you for your loyal support of the College and the Alumni Association during the past year. It has been a pleasure to serve as your president.

Carol P. Gill '59
(Mrs. George M. Gill, Jr.)

Gavel Points...

by Connie Bennett Elliott '53, President

The Board of Visitors has announced an exciting new program of special interest to alumni. A resolution adopted at their September 8 Board meeting calls for the establishment of a Regional Scholarship Program. The resolution directs that selection of scholarship recipients shall be made by a number of alumni committees. The alumni comprising these committees will be appointed by President Grellet Simpson.

Beginning in time to process applications of the 1974 entering freshman, the program will award 25 four-year scholarships, worth up to $4,000 each, in the coming year.

Although, if circumstances dictate, there can be flexibility, the plan is to make available two scholarships in each Congressional District of Virginia. In addition, there will be five "floater" scholarships, with primary emphasis on out-of-state students.

Here are some details of the program:

* It's designed to attract and retain qualified students who seek degrees from MWC.

* Scholarships shall be awarded on the basis of academic merit and overall secondary school records and recommendations.

* Scholarships shall be awarded without regard to race, creed or sex.

* Annual awards shall be up to $1,000 per recipient and the minimum will be $500. Determination of the amount will depend on current financial need of the recipient.

* All scholarship funds shall be used to defray costs of tuition and fees at MWC.

* Recipients will be required to maintain an overall scholastic record of 2.50 as freshmen and in subsequent years, to maintain a 3.00 average.

I hope you will be as enthusiastic about this fine program as I am. Let the people in your community know about it. If you have any questions or inquiries, you may contact Mrs. Anne Hilgartner Bruckner '61, Director of Financial Aid and Registrar. Mrs. Bruckner is serving as the coordinator of the Regional Scholarship Program. She also is a member of the Alumni Association's Board of Directors.

New Procedures Adopted at Library

Changes at Mary Washington, as each returning alumnus learns, are sometimes slow, sometimes rapid, but are ever constant. Sometimes these changes are forced by the changing times; at other times they originate internally and are specifically designed to bring about desired results. Although more readily classed in the former category, the recent changes in the operating procedures of the College Library will no doubt serve to provide better and more efficient library service to the college community.

As the College moved away from a homogeneous residential student body and as the demands on the resources of the Library by students and local residents increased, the need for identification of the users and better control over the use of the Library became more apparent. The loss of 3,337 books, as the recently completed inventory revealed, is unmistakable testimony to such need.

Effective with the fall semester, therefore, the Library began using a charging machine which requires the use of a student library card for withdrawing books. This same card serves as the student's identification card on a campus-wide basis. The faculty and staff have similar identificatication cards provided by the College.

A library card may be obtained by a local alumnus or any area resident not connected with the College if he or she is engaged in serious study or research that cannot be undertaken in a public or school library. The procedure requires a visit to the Library to request a card and to fill out a brief form to be used in preparing the identification card. A fee of $3.00 is charged to cover the cost of processing the card. The processing ususally requires one week.

It was only after reviewing the circulation and service problems of the past year and learning the preliminary results of the book inventory that the urgency of the need for better control of the library's functions was fully realized. To wait another year for the installation of a charging system seemed very unwise. Regretably, the lack of publicity concerning the use of a library card created an inconvenience for some alumni who had previously used the Library. It is hoped that an explanation of the problems and the demand for a prompt solution by the Library will serve to elicit understanding and cooperation from alumni.

For informational purposes the policy governing the use of the College Library by persons other than MWC faculty, students and staff is stated below.

Use of College Library by Persons Other Than MWC Faculty, Students, and Staff

1. Responsible persons residing within commuting distance may be granted special borrowing privileges at the discretion of the Circulation Librarian (the Librarian, in the absence of the Circulation Librarian). In general, the condition to be met is serious study or research which cannot be undertaken in a public or school library. The Library's primary commitment is to MWC students and faculty, and their needs must be met first. Commuting distance refers to the willingness of a borrower to make a trip to the Library to return a book called in for a campus borrower.
2. The reference services of the Library are open to all responsible persons. Books and materials may be consulted in the Library and, to the extent that time is available, reference service will be provided.
3. Students from the public schools and other colleges are welcome to use library materials in the building but may not charge out materials.
4. Persons given permission to charge out library materials must have a library card for machine charge out. A fee of $3.00 is charged for this card, which must be presented each time books are to be taken out. Loss of the library card will entail a $3.00 replacement fee.
5. All persons with previously arranged borrowing privileges must reapply for permission after September 1, 1973.

Homecoming '74

Have we got a ball for you!

April 26-27, 1974, are the dates for this year's Homecoming celebration. Chairman, Virginia Felts Brown '50, says "Homecoming '74 will climax what we are sure is going to be an exciting year for the College and the Association."

This Homecoming we will be celebrating the 60th anniversary of the Alumni Association, honoring President Grellet C. Simpson upon his retirement, seeing the first copies of Dr. Edward Alvey's History of MWC in print, and, of course, honoring our special reunion classes of 1914, 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934, 1944, 1949, 1954, 1959, 1964 and 1969.

A champagne reception honoring Dr. and Mrs. Simpson will kick things off on Friday evening. On Saturday there will be class meetings, Brompton luncheon, annual Association meeting, surprises and Saturday night a festive 60th anniversary banquet has been planned with special entertainment designed to bring fits of laughter and a few tears.

But of course, the big reason for Homecoming is a chance to see old friends at the scene of the basis for the friendship and so, the more the merrier. If you're not here on April 26 and 27, someone is sure to miss you.

New Bylaws For The Alumni Association

The Alumni Board of Directors has adopted new Bylaws for the Association. These new Bylaws, which will go into effect on July 1, 1974, will serve to reorganize the Board and allow for more involvement of the entire Association in electing officers of the Association.

As of July 1, the Board of Directors will consist of 14 rather than 23 members. Of these 14, 6 will be elected (the officers), directly by the alumni at large, remaining positions will be filled by chairmen of standing committees, a senior, a faculty representative, the President of MWC and the Director of Alumni Affairs.

Each Board member will have a specific area of responsibility by virtue of his position.

Officers will consist of: President, first Vice President (in charge of annual fund), second Vice President (in charge of Homecoming), third Vice President (in charge of chapters), fourth Vice President (in charge of classes) and President Elect.

During our upcoming first election a full slate will be elected but yearly thereafter, we will be electing three officers in a rotation basis.

Should you desire a copy of the new Bylaws, please write the Alumni Office with your request and the staff will be happy to send you one.

Members of the Board of Directors are enthusiastic about the new Bylaws and hope you will exercise your right to vote for Association officers in February.

The Nominations and Election Committee is already screening nominations sent in by class agents, chapter presidents, Board members and other alumni leaders. Should you have a nominee for one or more of the offices, please send a biographical statement on that nominee to the Alumni Office no later than October 31.

Nomination and Election committee members will interview strong nominees and find the single best candidate. Ballots will be mailed to you in late winter for your voting. The ballot will be a single candidate ballot with a space for a write-in.

Members of the Bylaws Revision Committee included Chairman, Mrs. Mary A.K. Kelly, Irene Lundy Brown '39, Ann Perinchief '67, Sam Emory, Phoebe Enders Willis '29 and Diana D. Koski.

1972-1973 Alumni Fund Report

Because of your increased support, the 1972-73 Alumni Fund closed its books on the highest total in the history of the Alumni Association.

The grand total of the Alumni Fund was $32,799.18, which reflected a nearly 27 percent increase over the 1971-72 total of $25,895.78.

Anne P. Forney, '66, 1972-73 Vice President for the Fund, believes that our success last year is the springboard for a continued upward trend in annual giving. She said, "Our campaign theme was the new beginning and I believe the alumni who responded to our appeals have expressed their confidence in MWC's future and the ability of the Alumni Association to come together to play an even stronger part in MWC tomorrow."

Over 200 alumni volunteers are to be congratulated for their role in the campaign's success. Head and subagents worked during the month of April to encourage gifts from classmates.

Camilla Moody Payne, '29, served as Special Gifts chairman and wrote to alumni to encourage them to join our clubs by giving a major gift.

Conchita deMedio Gilbertson, '47, contacted all parents of present students to ask support and Sam Emory was in charge of the faculty and staff campaign. In addition, members of the Board of Directors contacted potential donors and the Peninsula chapter had its second successful telethon. This large fund team is the work force responsible for our success. To each of them and to the 1,692 contributors we say, thank you.

Other interesting statistics show that the percentage of participation in the fund rose from 14.6 percent (1971-72) to 16.6 percent. The average alumni gift was $17.09 as compared to $14.08 during 1971-72.

Some alumni saved a dime-a-day in their Love Banks and responded to the amount of $24.20, while many others sent in checks for $25.00.

As we reflect on last year's success, the Board of Directors joins the 1973-74 Vice President for the Fund, Anne H. Bruckner, '61, to ask you to help celebrate the 60th anniversary of the Alumni Association with even greater support.

Dear Classmates:

Again it is time for a message to you! I wonder what each of you are doing. It has been so long since we had any word from some of you. When you read this, why not grab a pen or pencil and tell us of your activities, etc.

A nice letter came recently from Lillian Waring Edwards. She speaks of enjoying my column and Ina Taylor Powell's so much. I, too, enjoy ina's and also Imogene Ellis'. I went to see Ina once when visiting in Cape Charles. My friend there has now passed away.

I haven't heard from any of the girls since June 16, the day at "Snugly," except for a phone chat with Etienette Broaddus Moore and Elsie Wood Rice, the "Old Faithful." Can always depend upon her to write.

Our day at "Snugly" was perfect. Weather was fine, good food and plentiful. The Moores are so good to set a date, make phone calls, provide prepsrations such as grooming the lawn and setting the tables. A cordial welcome awaits all who will come. I am sure all of us are grateful for their generosity. Here's who came! Class of 1915: Charlotte Rice Weymouth, Virginia Bolen, Margaret Sayre Ransone, Elsie Wood Rice, Etienette Broaddus Moore, Edna Gibbs Hunter, and Ruth Carter Vellines. Others included: Josephine Spindle, Class of 1917; Anne Latane Ware Bedinger, Class of 1913; Imogene Ellis Daniel, Class of 1917; Elizabeth Haile Cloe, Class of 1911; Mary Sneed, Class of 1914; Thelma E. Sutton, Class of 1921; Louise Carter Ward, Class of 1925; Matilde Haile Mann, Class of 1928; Mary George Bolen, Class of 1923 – Longwood (a sister of Virginia Bolen. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Cummins (a daughter of Imogene Daniel), William McKendree Moore and Lisa Overstreet, (the granddaughter of the Moores).

Not until we were ready to eat and the thanks was given by Etienette did she reveal this occasion as her birthday. Had we known we could have provided the cake, candles and gifts.

Not long after we met at "Snugly" news came of the illness of our beloved Mr. Tyner, who passed away on June 22, 1973. I have received a letter and the write-up of his death so give a portion of it to you.

"Dr. Bunyan Yates Tyner died in Rex Hospital in Raleigh, North Carolina, after a three-week illness. After graduating from Wake Forest College, he came to be the second principal of Wingate Academy, now Wingate College. Here Dr. Tyner met his wife, Mary Lee Bivens, and they were married in what is now Wingate Baptist Church, nearly 64 years ago. Dr. Tyner and his wife came to Fredericksburg in 1912 and for 17 years headed the Department of Education and was director of summer sessions at MWC. He also served as registrar, dean and acting president during this period. He later had a teaching fellowship at Peabody College and served at Winthrop and Meredith Colleges as head of the Education Department. His work at Meredith was from 1932 to 1954 when he retired.

"Dr. Tyner was a faithful and active member of the First Baptist Church in Raleigh, where he served as deacon and superintendent of the Sunday School. His pastor paid him the following tribute: 'a pastor's friend, a man of high ideals and integrity, who lived by what he believed.' Interment was in Monthawn Cemetery in Raleigh." We mourn his going and extend to Mrs. Tyner our deepest sympathy and love.

Mrs. Tyner spoke of having received such a lovely letter from President Simpson, although she did not know him personally. Knowing what a fine man Dr. Simpson is, I am sure he would make this nice gesture.

Edna Gibbs Hunter gave me a clipping printed in an Eastern Shore paper of an incident that happened 50 years ago, August 12, 1922. I thought many of you may be interested. "The body of James D. King of Cape Charles was drowned with his fiancee, Miss Houde Seay of Richmond, on the beach at Cobbs Island about 2:30 Monday afternoon. The tragedy occurred while several of a beach party from Cape Charles were in bathing on the island beach. Mr. King and Miss Seay ventured too far beyond the breakers and were caught in the undertow. Their cries brought Mr. King's father to their rescue and he too came near being drowned. Miss Seay's body was recovered in a short time, but it is feared Mr. King's was taken to sea by the current." Maude Seay was a graduate of the 1915 class; a very promising and lovely girl.

Sarah Gouldman McAllister's daughter's story appeared in the Ellery Queen Mystery Magazine under the pseudonym Ellen Arthur. I hope some of you read it.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Fonnie Hiter Bowie of Bowling Green in the death of her first cousin, Miss Edna Goodwin of Louisa, Virginia, on July 28, 1973. Graveside services were held in Beulah Baptist Cemetery, Kents Store, Virginia.

I note that the number of contributors and the amount of the Class of 1915 has increased some. Hope we do better during the next drive.

Love,
Ruth

The picnic at "Snugly" Friday, June 16 was very enjoyable as usual. There were 20 present including three visitors. There were only three of our class, namely Elizabeth Haile Cloe, Josephine Spindle and myself. I am sure Ruth Carter Vellines will give a full account of it since one of her class was giving the picnic and their class had the largest representation. One of Michie's granddaughters was being married that day, so she was unable to come.

Our class was distressed to see in the last Alumni News the death of Mr. Bunyan Yates Tyner on June 22, 1973. Our love and deepest sympathy is with his widow, our beloved Mrs. B. Y. Tyner.

In a letter from Effie Berry Fuqua written the last of May, she said they were expecting to move back to Cape Charles the first of July. Both she and her husband had gotten very homesick. She also enclosed a clipping from the Eastern Shore News headed "Copes Building in Lynchburg Opened." This new center is named in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Margaret Copes of Accomack County.

I also got another letter from Effie the last of August. They are back in Cape Charles 23310 and very happy. Her daughter, Mary Elizabeth, lives in Norfolk and decided that she would visit her mother and father once a week. They really look forward to her visits. She said since her sister, Virginia Mayfield, had looked after her parents for three years, she would do it the next three years. She has two boys, ages 10 and 5. They enjoy the beach and bathing in front of their grandparents' home while there. Beth Hallett Goffigon lives just across the street from Effie and told her of the death of Mr. Tyner. For some reason Effie has failed to get any mail from the Alumni Association for over a year.

Several weeks ago Rachel Mesick Buchan had her sister-in-law from Richmond to visit her for a week. While there, I had them, a niece of hers, Esther Rowe of Fredericksburg, and several other guests over for lunch. The hen party seemed to have been enjoyed by all.

I had been expecting a visit from L. L. Michie Behrendt this summer when her daughter and family came to Irvington for their vacation as they had done for several years. I just heard the very last of August that they were going south this year for their vacation, and Michie will not be coming to my home. I am disappointed, because I was looking forward to it. I began that very night to make plans for the luncheon at Lowrey's on Friday, September 14. We hope we will have a big turnout, but on account of the deadline for news that will have to wait for our next newsletter.

While I was writing this news, a card came from Elizabeth Hale Cloe, Route 4, Box 284, Stafford, Virginia 22554, telling me she was afraid she could not make it to the luncheon having had a severe attack of angina pectoris and was in intensive care. She is now back at home feeling much better but can't do much. She sends her love to all. It would be nice if some of our class would write to her.

I am still looking forward to hearing from you "girls." In June I went on a house party at "River Lawn," Mary Ellen Burke Donald's summer estate with Beatrice White Minter of Norfolk and others. We had a glorious time.

Have just talked to Katherine Corr Bland. She is improving nicely and now is allowed to drive her car.

Elmyra Snead Thomas lives in Richmond and I talked to her the other day. She is fine.

Hope to have more news next time.

After I wrote this news for MWC today I received word of the death of Katherine Corr Bland in August. She taught in the Richmond public schools for 45 years and was retired in 1964.

This has been a busy, busy year for at least two of us "girls" of the Class of '19, for we have been celebrating our 50th wedding anniversaries. Ruby Beazley Douglass and Hubert married March 2, 1923, but they celebrated on the 4th, which was Sunday since that was a more convenient time. Ruby and Hubert were at our Baptist Camp, Eagle Eyrie, and came home just in time to change their clothes and be ready to receive the first guests. Their children, Mrs. Douglass Bucholz and Mrs. George Davis, both of Charlottesville and Hubert B. Douglass of Williamston, North Carolina, along with their eight grandchildren hosted the lovely party.

Our celebration came in June and I am sure Ruby and Hubert will agree with us that it was a once-in-a-lifetime event and our children really went all out to make it a gala occasion. I never dreamed that in all the world there were as many different 50-year anniversary cards, and such beautiful ones. There were several write-ups about the event, but the most concise one came out in the S.C. State newspaper. Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Snuggs of Columbia were honored recently on their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception in the Social Hall of Kilbourne Park Baptist Church. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hailman, Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Snuggs, Jr., Columbia; and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Snuggs of Atlanta, Georgia. The Snuggs were Baptist missionaries for over 35 years, serving in both China and Taiwan. The couple have three children and nine grandchildren, all of whom were present.

Because of the celebration and the invitations that were sent, we received word from many of the classmates and others. Class of '16, Ina Taylor Powell and Miriam Perrin Creel; Class of '17, Effie Berry Fuqua. Effie had a very serious automobile accident several years ago but she had recovered so well that they are going back to Cape Charles to their old home once more. From the Class of '19, there was Ruby Beazley Douglass, Celia Pearson Glasgow, Belle Ferguson Dorey, Gladys Omohundro Horn, whose husband, by the way, has been studying for the ministry and is now in full-time service. There was a lovely note from Viola Virginia Hall Todd. She only came one year and I'm not quite sure of her class. Another one who sent good wishes was Lucille Beadles Brooks. She was in the class behind us but always went around with all of us. We have been long time friends – well really for more than 50 years! Then just as this was going to print, the mail brought another beautiful card with all kinds of good wishes from Meta Hutcheson Harrison and her husband, Carter. Meta wrote that they celebrated their 50th last year and the celebration lasted all the year and they loved every bit of it. She lives near Ella Lethon Keane and they had celebrated their 50th in '71. So for those who have not made it yet, I would suggest keep working at it and you may make it, for four of us "girls" have, and we will all agree that it has been great and I for one would do it all over again.

Now, all of you, let me hear from you and the next time I promise it will not be a letter all about 50th wedding anniversaries.

When the invitations were sent out for our anniversary, one was sent to Dr. and Mrs. Tyner, dearly beloved couple of our college days. I had a reply from Mrs. Tyner which was so much appreciated and cherished. In her letter she said Dr. Tyner was seriously ill and they waited hourly for what they hoped would be good news. Knowing how seriously ill Dr. Tyner was, I hesitated to write and last week when the Alumni News came, there was an In Memoriam to our dear friend, teacher and counselor, Dr. Bunyan Yates Tyner. We all remember them both with such love and admiration and our hearts are saddened just to know that he walks this earth no more.

Sincerely,
Grace M. Snuggs

I was sorry I misplaced the sheet concerning information as to my present status, etc., family, etc. in answer I taught school three years in southern Virginia. I was married June 1, 1926, lived in Florida three years and the remaining years in Rocky Mount, North Carolina. I have never worked since we have three children – two girls and one son. We have 10 grandchildren, the oldest 20 years old, who is a rising senior at The Citadel in Charleston, South Carolina, my husband's former college. I was planning to attend the 50th at Mary Washington, supposing it would be late May or early June, but could not attend in April!

It is very hard to get news of the Class of '26. Let me hear before the January deadline for the next news.

There were 20 four-year graduates and 140 who received two-year certificates. Many of these two-year people went on to become graduates of the Class of '26 at MWC. Some taught or went to other schools.

A note some time ago from Elizabeth Allen Simpson said she went to another college but was still interested in MWC. She is enjoying retirement in Hendersonville, North Carolina.

Grace Claverius Van Name, '28, is our doctor's wife here in Urbanna, Virginia. She is active in community and church work.

Ruby Dillard Decker of Richmond spends much of the summer at their cottage near Deltaville. Dorothy Chiles Hodnette of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, was in Virginia for a visit to MWC and other places. Jerke Anderson Fitchette of Gwynn's Island is still active in her musical life. Virginia "Pep" Williams Morris of Hillsboro, Ohio, was Elizabeth Noland in Gloucester County quite often. She has just returned to Ohio to resume her duties as a teacher.

Elizabeth Morrison is close by Fredericksburg with her school and camp. I've planned to stop to see her but it seems I'm always in a hurry when I pass that way. My closest contact of MWC days is with Juliet Ware Parker, my college roommate. She lives at Ware's Wharf (Dunnsville, Virginia) and we enjoy seeing each other quite often.

We are such a small group compared with the classes of today but are proud of the progress the college has made in the last half century.

Now how about some news of all of you.

Since so many of you didn't attend Homecoming, I was hoping you'd be writing me some news. So far, no letters. I'm very disappointed.

I'll continue as agent through our 50th anniversary – if I live that long. After that, I'm through. I've tried so hard to get a response from you, for so many years – you have been so indifferent. Let's see if the next five years will bring you a little more interest in the classmates and our Alma Mater.

I have found two more of our "gals" – Grace Mason and Sara Jaffe.

Grace Mason (Mrs. Earl Duval) lives in Virginia Beach. Her husband owns the Duval Exterminating Co. They have a son who graduated from Wesleyan University and is now in the business with his dad. Grace taught in Norfolk school system, but is retired now.

Sara Jaffe Klavans, Mrs. Earl Klavans lives in Norfolk. Her husband is a C.P.A. with the city of Norfolk. She retired from teaching last year and has two children – a son and a daughter – two granddaughters and two grandsons.

Beatrice Brangon Fordham's daughter, Elizabeth, who for many years taught in many foreign countries, has been teaching in Alexandria for the past seven years. Her son, Joseph, Jr., is air controller at Norfolk Airport and lives in Virginia Beach. Beatrice has two grandchildren close to her now and she's very happy.

Congratulations are in order for Mary Quinn Lambert for the honor bestowed on her daughter, Lois Quinn Lambert – class of '58, who was appointed by Governor Linwood Holton to the five-member Board of Visitors of Norfolk State College. Lois, at present is a faculty in the Virginia Beach public school system.

Rachael Wingfield DeAngelo made a trip to the U.S. this summer to see her sister who is very ill. Rachael is retired professor emeritus from the University of Hawaii, where she will live in retirement. After she settles down, and has rested, she plans to dedicate herself to writing. Her greatest interest and field of specialization which she enjoys mostly is traditional literature (folk literature) of the Pacific, including Southeast Asia and Polynesia.

When the Mary Washington group went to Hawaii, Rachael sent a basket of anthuriums to the leader of the group. Also, she took all those interested in going to the Kawaiahas Church – the Westminster Abbey of the Pacific. So glad a member of our class was there to do the honors.

Let me hear from you!

Please note my change of address! In March of this year we sold Kenmore Lodge in Fredericksburg and moved to this place on the lower Rappahannock. We have a retirement cottage which faces Whiting Creek Cove but the river is clearly visible. We enjoy watching the traffic out here and the sail boats are particularly lovely. We have room for all the children and grandchildren and they come at every opportunity.

Let me hear from you and I hope to see you next spring at our 45th anniversary at Homecoming.

Susie Dickinson Hudson telephoned me in May when she was in Newport News to see her family living here. Her husband was in Washington at a meeting of the President's Committee for Employment of the Physically Handicapped. They live in Montgomery, Alabama, where he is state director for vocational rehabilitation of crippled children. They have a new house to be completed by August 15, so I suppose they are living in it now. Harriet, the older daughter, lives in Washington and works for research projects. The younger daughter is a junior at Auburn University.

I recently saw Martha Haffey Green's daughter, Martha, and talking with her reminded me of her mother and the other Georgia girls who saw their first snow our freshman year at Mary Washington.

We learned in May, 1973, that Margaret Tuck Moore died in February, 1966. Our sympathy goes to her family.

Virginia Davis Curtis wrote me in May that since our reunion in 1971 she and her husband have had a most enjoyable trip to the Scandinavian countries. She wrote: "Our life is so full with many activities of the church and voluntary work, as well as family get-together. Both of our daughters live in the Richmond area, which makes it easy to see them often and enjoy our three very sweet grandchildren."

"My husband has started a small import business. He is thinking about the time when he retires."

Louise Jennings Creamer's younger daughter, Sally, was married June 2 in San Mateo, California, to William John Crane. Sally was escorted to the altar by her brother and her brother-in-law. Her sister was her matron of honor and a niece was junior bridesmaid. Louise sat in the family pew and wore a floor-length long sleeved, shirt-waist style gown of white and coral batiste. A reception was held at the Holiday Inn in Belmont, followed by an afternoon of dancing. The bride and groom are graduates of Arizona State University. They will make their home on the East Coast.

I can just picture the lovely wedding, Louise. The picture of the newlyweds is excellent, and I thank Bill Wheeler McCallum for sharing it with me.

Louise Otley Graves' daughter, Karan Otley, was married July 21 to Richard Alan Judd in the Baptist Church, Fredericksburg. Karen graduated from Radford College and will be teaching kindergarten in Fredericksburg. Louise, class of '38, sent me the engagement announcement in the paper. My nephew, George Frederick Nelson II, was married the same day in Alexandria.

Elizabeth Rice Cooke wrote me a lovely letter. Thank you, and I'm happy you are working with the Alumni Fund. Jane Howard Patrick, '48, wrote me in June. She lives in Cooperstown, New York, and wrote, in part: "I have always been proud of Mary Washington, but being so far away has made me more aware of my heritage and of how important Mary Washington has been in my life . . . It is important at this time that we continue to support the growth and development of Mary Washington as we begin a new era in the history of the college." Thank you for your letter, Jane. It has been a long time since September, 1932, when Dorothy Teese and I rode to Fredericksburg in the rumble seat of my brother Rip's car to enroll at the State Teacher's College. Those four years have meant a lot to me, too, and I realize more than ever how fortunate we were to be in college in the depression years. My youngest child, Jonny, is a senior in Hampton High School, and thoughts of college are in our minds. Jon's extracurricular activity is being crew for a friend who sails a Hobie 16. They have been to Lewis, Delaware, twice and plan to sail in the East Coast races in Wildwood, New Jersey, September 15-16.

Bill Wheeler McCallum continues to lead a busy and fulfilling life teaching at George Washington Carver School in Newport News. She helps me with news, and I thank all of you who have contributed to this issue. How about writing to me?

Dear Classmates,

Frances Liebenow Armstrong sent me the following letter last April, and I would like to share it with you:

"I just had to write you about Homecoming. It was just wonderful! I was the only one from our class, unless somebody came in on Saturday. Sorry because you missed a truly great time. Since we have reactivated the local chapter, I find myself quite busy but it's really fun and such a good feeling to be back and forth on "the hill."

"Let me relate my weekend to you. I arrived at Spotswood at 3:00 p.m. Friday and helped with registration until 5:00 p.m. Then I had a delightful dinner in the dining hall. I ran home long enough to feed my husband, Sidney, and change my clothes. Back to Spotswood by 7:00 p.m. to help with the punch party, which was sponsored by the Fredericksburg chapter. I thought it was a huge success. I left at 11:00 p.m., but many stayed until 12:30 a.m.

"Saturday was a beautiful day. I arrived at Market Carter Lee at 8:30 a.m. for a most delightful continental breakfast. The general meeting began at 9:00 a.m. and was most informative. Our new director, Diana Koski, is charming and had done a marvelous job. I am so anxious for all of my class to meet her. The highlight of this meeting was a presentation by Dr. Alvey. He is writing a history of the college up to our separation from the University of Virginia. He gave us some parts from the book. You should have heard him – he is just wonderful and so entertaining. Hopefully, the book will be ready for sale next spring. I can hardly wait!

"After the meeting I went to Brompton and helped as a hostess in the house from 12:00 noon – 12:30 p.m. This is a wonderful pleasure. I just love Brompton, and Dr. and Mrs. Simpson. They are marvelous friends and have done so much for Mary Washington. It was a lovely day to be outside. The grounds are beautiful; the trees and flowers were in blossom. It was so nice to eat outside. After such a long day, I came on home with memories of truly the best Homecoming ever!

Love,
Frances

"But what about 1976? Isn't that our next reunion year – our 40th? I want us to have a wonderful weekend. I'd like to help in any possible way. Please let me know what I can do here to make our 40th the greatest!

"Please let me hear from you soon.

Thank you for that inspiring letter, Frances. Just reading it gives a lift to my soul. Frances is chairman of the Social Studies Department at James Monroe High School in Fredericksburg. She says her hobby is directing weddings, and she served in that capacity at the wedding of Louise Otley Graves' daughter, Karen, this past July. We know you are doing a marvelous job in everything you undertake, and count on your help in a big way in 1976.

I suppose that many of you thought that we had no 35th reunion. This is not the case at all. Among those present were a faithful few. Mary T. Kerrenbeck Gademan came all the way from Farmington, Connecticut. Frances Smith Creech came from Kinston, North Carolina; Evelyn Tomlinson Dart and Mabel Moffett Parke came in from Alexandria and Arlington. Julia Hartley Loving came from Louisa, Lillian "Mike" Boswell Rothery came over from White Stone, Virginia, and yours truly made it down from Elk Ridge, Maryland.

We enjoyed the delicious lunch at Brompton. The weather which had been a little on the cool side turned out perfectly, and one never ceases to be gratified that the campus is so beautiful. In a later letter from Mary T. she observed, and then it hit me between the eyes, that she and I were the only four-year girls in attendance. I believe for our fortieth reunion, that the way to secure better attendance is to have a writing campaign. I hereby call for volunteers to head that campaign. Each of us had a circle of friends, and it is those friends that we particularly want to see. I hope that in this way our attendance will increase, and more will be able to visit with that classmate they particularly want to see. I enjoyed writing the booklet from the questionnaires which were sent out. Let's start now to plan for the fortieth reunion. The group which came to the one just past was thoroughly congenial, but too small. Let me hear from you, P.S. If any of you wants the job as class agent, it is yours for the asking.

Bernice Whipple Camp says, "Yes, time is flying and we haven't heard from any of the girls with suggestions for our reunion in April. I will be in Florida but am planning to come up for the reunion and would love to have a big group there. If there is anything I can do to help getting people interested, let me know." My suggestion to all of us is for each of us to contact the girls we have been close to and make plans to come to the reunion.

Kathryn Nicholas Winslow wrote a nice letter. She says, "I'm getting excited about our 35th anniversary. Hope we can stir up lots of interest. I call the '39 girls around here from time to time. Dolly Falconer McGuirt is still teaching in private school. Her children are grown. Tess Boggs Wilson works for American Cancer Society and just loves it. Henrietta Roberts Eubank and husband Gene had a trip to Canada last year, but enjoyed the New England States even more. Henrietta is still teaching. Dot Diehl Denton continues her post at the naval base. Doward and I are planning a European tour this year. We've enjoyed the Orient and Hawaiian Isles twice."

The wedding of John Fallen, son of Nancy Horr Fallen to Anita Seay in Orange Methodist Church was a happy event in August. Virginia Cooley Stoner and husband and Quintus and I were among the guests. Cooley has her same bubbling personality and zest for life. We enjoyed seeing pictures of three lovely grandchildren. She plans to come to the reunion. Her old roommate, Miriam Boyer Parsons, has had an interesting life living many different places. The years have been spent both to Cooley, Nancy, and her sister, Grace, also an MWC alumna. Nancy plans to get to the reunion. We did not have much time to visit with Nancy and Elliott, but we look forward to a visit from them.

G. Ann Newsom Harris plans to attend our 35th reunion. Husband Harold has retired as Assistant Chief Engineer of United States Steel. Ann retired in June, 1972, after 18 years of teaching in Delaware. They enjoy touring the United States in their camper and visiting the family.

I received a card from Egypt in May from Mary Helsabeck Townsend. "Seeing Greece, Israel, and Egypt has been a wonderful experience. We were in Jerusalem Easter Sunday." In September their daughter, Mary Ann, was married to John Robert Hopkins in their home church. The lovely reception was at Queen Ede, the Townsend home.

I had the pleasure of seeing Elsie Perry Dillard, who lives near MWC but never comes back, this summer.

Sunny Martin Agee, '63, is a neighbor of ours. Her husband, Dean, is executive secretary for Louisa County. They have three lovely sons. Sunny lives up to her name and brings sunshine into many other persons' lives.

The garden wedding of our Becky and Mike Dale, son of Shirley Barker Dale, '49, was a happy event for us in May. They had a honeymoon cruise to Bermuda and then returned to summer school at the University of Richmond. Sally Voris, daughter of Helen Pressley Voris, '38, cut the wedding cake and is a close friend of Becky's. Our son, John, graduated from VPI & SU in June and is working with Farm Credit Service. Son Jimmy and wife presented us with our third grandson in April. The descendants of Peter Francisco met with us in July. Attorney General Andrew Miller was speaker for the reunion. The Harris family reunion was in July on Lake Anna and the Massie reunion was in August with us.

Be sure to send in your questionnaire sent to you in August. We need this information in order to have a sketch of all '39ers in the booklet for homecoming.

Shall I say this is mid-term roll call for news, money, and missing persons? Many of our alumni have been located. As for news and money, both are low in contributions; I should like more news and I am sending in a check. The class of '40 ranks in about the lower quarter for contributions for 1972. Maybe we can push ourselves a bit so that by our homecoming in 1975 we will have better rating for all three of the above.

Adeline Kirkpatrick Vines writes of travel in southwest Virginia. Her husband is with the U.S.D.A. They have three sons, now all with the services of Uncle Sam.

Sophia Eisenman Fleischer is still personal secretary to Pete Mesta. A recent article in the Christian Science Monitor gives a delightful account of this world-wide hostess and how she relies on Sophie. What an exciting way to work.

Our sympathy is with Eleanor Small Overton, whose husband passed on this spring.

Marguerite Jennings Helbrush, '41, wrote she was going to Rio for a few days and would try to contact Jo Lee Flora Edwards. I had no home address for her, just her husband's business.

In June I saw Anna Denigri Lawson, '42, at Longwood College, where her daughter, Barbara, and our youngest daughter, Nancy, were graduated.

I enjoyed lunch with Rosella Tuck Davidson a few weeks ago. Thought I knew about growing African violets but mine do not hold a candle to the beautiful plants she has in her office at Reynolds Metals.

I attended the Virginia Home Economics Teachers Conference in Richmond, July 31 - August 3. Chatted with Hazel Wilhoite, Assistant State Supervisor. At one meeting the delegate sitting next to me looked at me and asked if I attended MWC. I answered "yes." She then asked if I might be Maxine Morea. She is Virginia Key Goolsby, younger sister of our Katie. She, being of the class of '42, made my day by recognizing me.

Another of our daughters is married. Emily, next to the youngest, had received her M.A. in biology from William and Mary last June and was teaching in Halifax. She was married in December to Peter N. Martin and both are teaching there. Our youngest, Nancy, has started teaching in Loudoun County. We feel it quite an accomplishment to have four daughters graduated in the teaching profession.

The following have been heard of as to change of address or are no longer missing. I'll be glad to forward addresses if you get in touch with me – Aileen Farmer Bennett, Marian Johnston Schultz Blevins, Nan Sharp Boyer, Janet Trevis Crismond, Kathryn Ever-Hart Erlart, and Elizabeth Hall Lundy.

I was married in '42 in Indian Head, Maryland, to John Gallaghan. We had six children, two girls and four boys. In 1959, we moved here to Ben Lomond. John took a job with Lockheed Missiles and Space Division.

We live in a very scenic area – in mountains somewhat like those of southwest Virginia. Yet we are only 10 miles from the Pacific Ocean. The air is still pure – the country is trying to fight off urbanization with varying degrees of success.

Our girls and eldest son are married. Two of the boys are still living at home. Our son, George, was killed in the crash of a small airplane three years ago. The pain of that will never go away.

Some years back, I decided to go to San Jose State for a Masters in librarianship. I have been working at the Santa Cruz Public Library for five years now. I am in charge of state and federal documents and the vertical files. I spend at least half of my hours at the reference desk. Hope to prevent the "empty nest" syndrome – but I still love to have everybody home together – too much mother in me, I suppose.

Please note correct address. We haven't moved, the post office renumbered us.

Who but the Class of '43 on the front cover of the June issue of MWC Today! That candid shot of us was so real – Charlotte Hawthorne Cheatham with her mouth open, Daphne Crump Rudilosso and Bertha Dickinson Taylor's attention attracted elsewhere, and Lee Hall Archer looking on quietly. I have my back to the camera and you can just barely see Hilda Holloway Law (extreme left) and half of Bea Draper Atkinson's face. The girl in white was helping the photographer line up groups.

Some of our crowd, the Arlington-Silver Spring-Baltimore area, made tentative plans for golf, lunch or just visiting. I do hope Hilda Holloway Law, Lee Hall Archer, Priscilla MacPherson Allen, and Jean Hopkins Stetson will get together this fall. If you would be interested, call Hilda – 712 26th Pl. S., Arlington, Virginia.

Some of the class came to reunion for the day on Saturday. From Richmond, Charlotte Hawthorne Cheatham and husband, Curtis; Kitty Pinner Grinstead and daughter, Jamie, who was to be married this summer; from Alexandria, Mary Vaughan Hazzel Lindberg, who was not in the picture because of highway traffic and congestion; Evelyn Sheeds Appleton (of Vienna) who has been a faithful reunion for many reunions, and Ruth Bailey Conroy, Arlington, the mother of two law school sons and a teenage daughter.

Jean McKimmey Hawthorne, Edith Winslow Staalman and Jane Beeton Boateiller sat at our table for the banquet. I enjoyed my visit with them very much. It's been a few years since Edith, Elizabeth Winfree Quaiff, and I sat together in chapel.

Frances Rice and Penny Critzsos Stokes returned for the first time in many years; Penny worked very hard with the Alumni Association in the '40's and '50's. Both are members of the Peninsula Chapter from Newport News and Hampton.

We had about 17 who were present for our 25th reunion also. Among these were Bea Draper Atkinson, Margaret Lamberth, Suzonne Decker Sugg, Bertha Dickinson Taylor, Helen Tracy Totura. Dorabelle Forrest Cox probably returns to Fredericksburg more frequently than the rest since she is married to a "town" boy, Gordon Cox.

We were delighted to know that there is an author among us – Jane Keefer Threwe. The November, 1972, issue of Jack and Jill carries "What Do Bears Do?" with her byline. I was sorry not to reach Keefer by phone when I was in California last fall. So those of you who read to grandchildren try Jack and Jill; you might find another clever story.

Found – thanks to clues from Jane Hockaday Holden via Barbara Beebee, Lee Hall Archer and I located and talked (telephone) to Dot Barnett Martin. She lives in Salem, works as field representative for the State Welfare Service, and has three grade and two boys (at VPI & SU). Carolyn Pittman Day has a two-year-old girl who ate at our table. I was delighted, after two years, to locate her in Fayetteville, North Carolina, about 60 miles away. Ellen Lillis McCleron started the ball rolling. Carolyn and Nat, a Division Engineer for the North Carolina Highway Commission, have two sons, 29 and 22. The youngest is a senior at East Carolina University.

I had lovely thank you's from "our" graduating daughters." Martita Fontaine (Donna Shearer Fontaine) was so delighted with the sketch of Trinkle Library. Elaine Mandelaris Gray (Stacia Dauros Mandelaris) "was acquainted with the artist when he was teaching at Mary Washington." Carter Moffet (Jean Page Buxton Moffet) was married June 16 to a Naval Academy graduate and is living at Charleston, South Carolina. "I am looking forward very much to proudly displaying them in my new home."

A real climax to reunion year came with my recent trip to Florida where I had a great day visit with Barb Greve Carver and her surgeon husband Gordy. They're in Hollywood with a summer place at Chokeclubsie Island on the edge of the Everglades and the gulf near Naples. They have two sons, one with a department store and the other getting his doctorate at N.C. State University.

I am sorry I couldn't reach Jo Walker Magee and Margaret Williams Parker by phone.

Harriet Tyler Miller was unable to be with us because of illness in her family. Evelyn Rowlett DuPriest was unable to come due to her husband's serious illness. I am sorry to have to tell you Evelyn lost her husband in early summer. We send our deepest sympathy to her. Her address is 8010 Dalmain Drive, Richmond.

So long for this time.

Happiness is being able to spread the news about formerly silent classmates! Julia Roymunt went to Hawaii on the alumni group tour in May. How about telling us about the trip, Julie? Also outside the continental states, but living abroad, is Virginia Schier Drury. They have been in the Philippines since 1964 where her husband, a concrete technologist, is vice-president of Philrock. They plan to return next summer and tour the states in a motor home. Maybe Ginny will be able to visit with some of the '47ers at that time. Wouldn't you like to let her know where you are?

Nora Bryant Monroe is living in High Point, North Carolina, where she teaches general music and chorus in the city schools. She has a son in the fifth grade and a 13-year-old daughter. Jane Littman Simmons is very busy raising her four sons in Cheyenne, Wyoming. "Donna," by which we all remember her, was widowed in June, 1970. Her oldest son graduated from high school this past May and was awarded the John Philip Sousa Award and an honor scholarship to the University of Wyoming. Keep up the good work you are doing with those boys, Donna.

I extended sympathy on behalf of our class to June Ashton Steppe, whose husband passed away in August after a lengthy illness.

Amy Lee Miller Wilson's niece, K. C. Ott, was one of the Virginia 4-H exchanges, along with my daughter, Janice, to spend July in Wales this summer. Imagine my surprise when Amy's sister approached me at Dulles International Airport where we had all gathered for the 4-H'ers' departure! She had been tipped off by you, Amy, after reading of the pending trip in MWC Today. A fine example, my friends, of how our news gets around.

My husband and I gained a daughter-in-law this summer. Our son is staying on at Indiana University for two more years of study in a rather specialized field of special education. The youngest girl, Lois, as if not to be forgotten this summer, was one of the state 4-H winners there in agribusiness and spent a week in New Orleans attending the National AIC conference at Tulane University.

The next issue of MWC Today will not be published until after the Christmas holidays. Please let me hear about you and your family so that all the "whoevers" who are wondering about you will be informed. With the postage rate being what it is, let's put the post office department to work and load the mails.

Waiting to serve you,
Conchita

Dear Classmates,

We missed those of you who were not with us for our 25th reunion, and you missed a very memorable time. It was good to see old friends looking so well and hearing of the interesting lives they were enjoying.

We met at the alumni house Friday evening for a general reception. Saturday morning after the business meeting Dean Alvey spoke to us about his book, a history of Mary Washington College, which has just been published. Dr. and Mrs. Simpson invited us to Brompton and we all enjoyed a lovely tour of the house and a garden buffet luncheon. It was truly a beautiful day. Later we met with our class and that night we had our banquet dinner at the Sheraton Motor Inn.

Ruth Lawless Harwood came from Connecticut with her attractive husband and kept the spirit of old '48 going with her good looks, enthusiasm and singing. She also entertained in her room before and after the banquet.

Sandy Graves Shiflett, Lois Savnier Hornsby and Carol Byrd Williamson Doyle also brought back the good old days with vocal and piano combinations.

We had the delightful companionship of Dr. Cabrera at dinner. He was back from Madrid and hadn't changed at all. Still lively and loves to dance at 75.

Emily Avery Holloway was most active and managed to collect $250 from the class as a gift to the Alumni Association.

Our 30th reunion is going to be even bigger and better, so keep it in mind and join us there. We are planning fun and games for all and hope to have more husbands present. Those who came added so much and were so nice.

During the year I have seen Gwen MacSimmons Meredith and Nancy Cooley Gallagher. Both are ardent tennis buffs. Gwen keeps busy with husband and three children in college and many community activities at Virginia Beach. Nancy and her husband travel much of the time when not in Washington, where he is an attorney.

Peggy Thompson Becker has moved and her new address is 133 E. 64th Street, New York 10021.

Joan Goode Sohagi and John Betts were married in Alhambra on April 19, 1973. John is chief engineer with Hardyne Camera System in Arcadia, California. She has two sons, one at UCLA, the other 16. Joan is teaching kindergarten and studying for a masters degree at Pacific Oaks College in Pasadena. Her current address is 6718 Ruthlee, San Gabriel, California.

Bobby Haugh McConnell has twins (boy and girl) and her daughter is now a freshman at MWC. I'm sure she will find many changes since we were there.

Ruby York Weinbrecht is now the librarian at MWC and commutes between McLean and Fredericksburg.

That's the news for now! Please keep your letters coming in so we will know where you are, what you are doing and can share your activities with the class.

Best wishes,
Miriam (Whickey) Whitley Knight

49ers, do you realize that in 1974 it will have been 25 years since we left MWC? I'd like to have a real bang-up reunion, so start writing to your old buddies now and send me any ideas you have on how to have a good time.

Nobody wrote about their vacation, but I do know that Peg Elliott Sweeney and family camped in Maine and at Raquette Lake, New York. Our family enjoyed two weeks in the Vermont mountains. Marie Payne Wright is representing the Baltimore Chapter on the Baltimore Woman's Alumni Club Council.

Down McElrath Gill wrote that her son enjoys being in the Navy cruising the Mediterranean and has been in for four years. Her daughter enters her second year at Western Community College, where she is studying data processing. Ann McElrath Quinn has been painting again and has sold a number of her pastel portraits. Her specialty is portraits of young children. Dawn has been promoted to assistant professor of biology at Virginia Western Community College. Dawn recently visited Tim Dunnavant Ridgewell and her husband and two daughters in Norfolk.

I have a letter from the mother of Betty Russell Brown, who died suddenly about three years ago. She tells us that both of Betty's children are now students at William and Mary College.

Not much news this time as not many of you answered my letters for news. Hope after the hot summer you have more ambition to write me a few lines.

Many of our friends are sending children off to college this fall. Shirley Cole Schleter's son, Chris, will be heading Chapel Hill way and Shirley mentioned getting in touch with Marcy Weatherley Morris, whose son, Tip, will be a sophomore there. Mim Soilows Wieland will be spending a night in the Schleter's when she and Earl bring Barby down to American University in D.C. We had a nice time with the Wielands this summer when they spent two weeks near us in Eastham, Cape Cod.

In the college news line I have read that Patti Head Ferguson's husband has recently become the president of the University of Connecticut. He had previously been at Clark University. And we have news too. Irv has just become vice president of academic affairs at Montclair State.

The last I heard (June) Carol Bailey Miller was unemployed as the lab where she had worked moved to Durham, North Carolina. Husband, Bill, bought a Western Auto store in Leesburg and is doing very well.

Charlotte Leonard Wilder and Roland went to Nassau this spring, accompanying the senior class of Charlotte's high school. What a nice trip! They hoped to go to Florida for two weeks this summer taking in Disneyworld, of course.

A nice long letter from Ruth Weaver Regenold in Elizabethton, Tennessee, sent a "hi" to everyone she knew in the years 1946-1950! She gave a brief resume of her family's activities which goes like this. Her oldest boy is beginning his sophomore year at East Tennessee State University as a music major. Daughter, Linda, is a high school senior and wants to go into some field of special education. She helps as a counselor in a camp for the mentally retarded. David is a sophomore in high school and thinks he would like to go into the medical field. Right now he keeps busy with his paper route. And then son James, who is in the seventh grade is interested in motorcycles. Ruth's husband is the clinical laboratory supervisor at Carter County Memorial Hospital. And Ruth has been very busy. In 1967 she went back to school at East Tennessee State University and received teacher certification for secondary and elementary school. Then she accepted a position as instructor for a certified laboratory assistant class located in the Elizabethton State Area Vocational-Technical School. She has graduated four classes. She hopes to have her masters degree in industrial education by December from the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. She says she hopes to come to our 25th reunion which is just two years from now, by the way.

Please, please write some news. Right now I am very discouraged as I can't write this column without your help. It just takes a minute to write down a few things about you and your family.

Summer's gone! And 1974 is just around the corner! This means the 15th reunion of the class of '59! Circle April 26 and 27 on your calendar. I am open for suggestions for anything special you would like to do. Homecoming committee has already planned a champagne party for Friday evening and a Saturday night banquet. Put on your thinking caps because each reunioning class has been asked to present five or ten minutes of entertainment after the banquet. For example, a skit, songs or a fashion show modeling the clothes of our college era. President Simpson retires this year and we celebrate the 60th anniversary of the Association. Something sentimental would be appropriate. Any ideas, any volunteers?

Jonnie Essick Wolcson and family have moved into a new Cape Cod in a lovely wooded area. They had a super trip to New Zealand, Australia and Tahiti. Even hobnobbed with Sir Hillary! In other words, two weeks of paradise!! Blake is in the sixth grade this year and Wendy is in the fourth. Time flies! We heard Carol Daehler Leonard, Bud, Dale and Judi are returning to Virginia.

Patricia Gray Proulx and Dan have moved to Connecticut. Dan had a bad fall and fractured some vertebrae. He is recovering slowly but surely. Pam is doing beautifully in school, and, of course, Pat is very busy in their new home. She received a phone call from Marianne Carrano Raphesly who said that everyone is fine.

Flo Van Orden Kelley is now a certified elementary teacher among all her other accomplishments. At this time she is working in transactional analysis; another disciple for Dr. Bass. But she remarks she really prefers to be a mother. Mery Massey is now treasurer of "Reading is Fundamental," a program out of D.C. that is doing quite well. Jo her spare time Mary continues to take various classes, does a lot of hiking and much reading. If you are interested in her program, please contact her.

Hate to tell you how many years it has been but Irene Pierce Rodgers and Don finally made it – visited Edna and Tom in dear old Mobile! We had a wonderful time in the very short few hours they had over en route to New Orleans. In fact, we were pulled from the ladies' lounge where we had escaped to talk uninterrupted by the men, by a very apologetic waitress who said there were some men outside who had lost their wives and someone was going to miss their plane. Needless to say, we will have to take up where we left off for next time. Irene looked just great and Don is a wonderful person. They are on the go most of the time!

Annual postcard from Greece from you know who. Right! Ann Brooks Papadatos. When she returns to the U.S., she plans to resume classes to renew her teaching certificate. And, she has sent word that she plans to attend the reunion!

I hope many of you plan the same thing! Let me hear from you any ideas or suggestions. And now that the children are back in school, drop a little note about what you're doing!

Love,
Edna

Hello Everyooe,

I hope you all have had a pleasant summer. It's been ages since I've written a column because I missed the last deadline, so some of my news is quite old. Bear with me, please! In February I received a letter from Sarah Leigh Kinberg who sent on the news she received at Christmas from classmates. The biggest surprise and best news she heard was from her freshman year roomie Mittie Weeden. She eloped in June 1972 and married Harry Moffett who is working with the Florida State Drug Abuse Program. Mittie is now teaching nursing at the Florida State University at Tallahassee. Belated best wishes to you, Mittie! Sarah heard from her soph roomie, Susan Dean Tatum, who has two boys and a girl, born in spring, 1972. The last address I have for Susan is Fairfax, Virginia. Pat Hur-ley Pickeral wrote that their year's doings included a trip to Florida and Disney World in January, Pat's still working on turning their basement into a family room, laundry and sewing room, bath and guest room – what an undertaking! They live in McLean, Virginia.

From Hawaii came a card from Ruby Hodges Holcomb, whose husband, Curt, is still in the Navy and attached to the Wilson. They were awaiting a change of orders. Also in Hawaii (at least until June '73) was Margo Pierce Metzler, whose husband had command of a ship, USS John R. Perry, a destroyer escort. Sarah also heard from Nancy Draper Lewich, Class of '63, who is living in Richmond, California, just an hour's drive away from Sarah in Stockton. Cay Wichard Lewis has moved into a wonderful-sounding house with six bedrooms to house her four children, two of each. Sarah's priceless comment on the size of the house was that she guessed Cay has to plan her lunch when she vacuums it! The last address I have for Cay is in Richmond, Virginia. Thank you, thank you, Sarah, for adding so much news to this column! (Sarah's address: 8307 Selane Ave., Stockton, California 95207).

In March I received a nice letter from Nell Robinson Jones, raving about a trip she and Robert had taken to Boston for pleasure, and Chicago for business for Robert – the annual meeting of the American Association of Colleges of Teacher Education. He enjoys teaching at William and Mary (a high school administrative duties as Associate Dean and Director of Graduate Studies of the School of Education. Nell and her family (two pre-school age boys) continue to enjoy living in Williamsburg, a really remarkable city in many ways, not only because of the restoration, which itself offers many advantages unequalled. She still works as administrative assistant to the executive vice president of the college, a job which runs all the way from institutional research to social secretary. She asked about Pat Howard who was her suitemate soph year and then transferred to the University of Louisville. The last address I have for her is 2626 Westbayan. Apt. 514, Houston, Texan 77027. Does anyone else know about Pat? Nell passed along the news that Sara Ellen Flowers McKinney had a second daughter in November of '72 and is still living in Richmond. Thanks so much for your letter, Nell. Your life sounds interesting and full.

My suitemate, Clara Sue Durden Ashley, wrote some interesting news ... her husband, Clarence, resigned from the CIA in April and is now buying and selling land, something he has always enjoyed and wanted to have more time to do. They feel confident that everything will work out well for the good luck! Home and office are still in McLean, Virginia. They plan to go on the MWC trip to Majorca in October. I think Knee Alumni Association trips sound great and are another advantage to being an MWC alumni. Clara Sue and I had hoped we could get together with Janie Riles Wamsley and family when they came to the USA for a vacation with her parents in Missouri this summer but it didn't work out. I have promised to enjoy life on her parents' farm, eating corn on the cob, etc., after an exciting year in Lyon, France. She and the girls flew back on August 28.

I had also hoped to get together with Jean Ryan Parrell and her family who left West Point, New York, on July 28 for Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, for the 10-month course at the Command and General Staff College there. Jean said she would probably cry all the way to Kansas as they just loved being at USMA for three years. They went to the beach at Lowes, Delaware, and visited family in Washington, D.C., in June.

The Alumni Office sent me good news about Jerri Barden Perkins, who received her M.D. from MCV in 1966. She married Dr. John Calvin Perkins in 1971, and he has two children – Lee, who is 12 and John, who is 11 years old. Jerri is doing research at N.I.H. on rheumatoid arthritis, and she and her family live at 8806 Liberty Lane, Potomac, Maryland 20854. Best wishes to you, Jerri, and good luck in your research in a most important field. A slip from the office said that Barbara Anne Kelly Oakley lives in Bristol, Virginia.

I have had a very exciting year, full of travel and family life. Andy and I spent a marvelous week in February skiing at Crested Butte, Colorado, a beautiful spot with a fascinating old mining town which is enjoying a new surge of life as a ski resort and a haven for artists and others who want to try a different life style. In May my mother visited us here and saw her first Kentucky Derby, which was a thrill of her life! Afterwards we all went to a Derby party, where I finally caught up with our classmate, Margie Lanhom Roberts, an Anchorage, Kentucky, native. She and her husband, "Biff," moved to Anchorage from the suburbs of Louisville this summer. "Biff" plays a great part in making Louisville an exciting city – he was instrumental in arranging the First National Bank Pro Tennis Classic held here in August with most of the big-game male tennis stars! In July our family headed for the East Coast for a week at the New Jersey shore with Andy's brother and family, and another week visiting our friends at Flimington, Delaware. I saw Barbie Upson Gravely there. She keeps busy with church work, AAUW, and her husband, Martin (a high school Spanish teacher), and two lovely children, Meg and Bobby. Their garden is lovely.

During that visit to Delaware, I was shocked and saddened by the tragic death of Barbara Armstrong, Class of '63, in the plane crash in Tahiti. She and her sister, Ethel, added so much to life at MWC and were enjoying a successful decorating business in Washington, D.C. It was fun to stop in their shop whenever I could get into Georgetown. I'm sure you all join me in extending sympathy to Ethel and their family.

On August 9 my children and I flew out to California for a marvelous visit with my sister, Linkey, who lives in Oceanside, near San Diego! We spent nearly three weeks seeing the sights from Disneyland to Tijuana, Mexico. I thought of all the classmates in California and wished I could've had a mini-reunion, but working things out around four young children and Linkey's job schedule didn't leave much time to take trips of more than an hour or so away from home. I really fell in love with the weather there as compared to the heat and humidity of Kentucky!

Tis new September and all the activities of fall and winter are beginning again. Do take a few minutes in your busy days to drop me or any of the class agents a note about YOU! My next deadline is January 10.

Bye for now,
Connie Booth Logothetis

P.S. In case you all who attended our 10th reunion didn't recognize them, that photo with the caption "Parents Weekend" in the April issue of MWC Today, was of my husband, Andy, talking to Pom Risteri Correll (blonde) and Margaret Kirksey Bir at Bronpton! Maybe in some future year the caption will be true!

Everybody was certainly busy during the summer, but I did get a couple of letters. Betsy Bourke Christian and Meade are moving to Tarheelia – after moving seven times these past ten years (including a European stay), they are finally going to settle down in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, where Meade is setting up practice as a pediatrician. Their two children, Brit and Anne Catherine are ages 9 and 5 now. Betsy is looking forward to participating in the Raleigh Alumni Chapter. Her new address is : 14 E. Stratford Hills, Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27524.

I also got a note that Janet Lawton Dixon visited her family in Albany, New York, this summer and took her two children with her.

Tom's sister married in August, so we were in Richmond for the wedding. Our daughter, Cathy, 8½, was a junior bridesmaid. While I was in Richmond, I talked to Betsy Chamberlain Hartz, who is expecting her second child in October. She said Betsy Loving Robbins was also expecting – her first – in January. Betsy had news of Patsy Ballou Saunders too. Wonder girl Patsy has two little girls, Donna and Kathy, works full-time, works on the farm she and Bob own and now is raising toy poodles to show!

Talked to Betty Jo Cowles Yates, too. Betty Jo is active in the Bon Air Junior Woman's Club with Toni Hensborough O'Brien. Toni has two little boys and is teaching first grade at Collegiate School in Richmond. Betty Jo sees Becky Seal Shepherd ('65) often as Becky's little girl took swimming lessons with Betty Jo's Carla, 4.

Sally Chamblee Boykin, her husband and two children are in California now, where he is taking courses. Anne Marchant Long is building a new home in Richmond, I hear. Anne send us the new address and tell me all about it. Barbara Duke Jones has become very active in local politics in Ashland, Virginia, becoming the first woman to assume her political position on the town board.

It's so hard to write, I know, but do jot a few lines on a Christmas card to let us keep up with you.

Betty

I'm sorry that I missed the last issue but thoroughly enjoyed reading Betty's account of reunion. I wanted so much to be there but had made two trips east last year and a third was out of the question at that point. I did send a telegram but don't think it ever got there.

I hate to begin my column on a sad note but was so deeply shocked to learn that our own Edna Armstrong was aboard the Pan American jet that crashed in Papeete, Tahiti, on July 23. Funeral services were held on July 27 in Lancaster, Pa. For the past several years, Edna and Ethel Armstrong have operated Armstrong Interiors in Washington, D.C. I know that all of you join me in extending deepest sympathy to Ethel and her family. Anyone wishing to write Ethel may do so at 2801 New Mexico Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007.

Karen Vondevonter Chapman wrote a long letter about the reunion but Betty had mentioned everyone in her column so I won't repeat here. In addition to attending reunion in the spring, Karen and Kurt made a trip to Bermuda last winter.

My other brief bits of news came from Sally Abbott Pomputius and Barbara Grant Fox. Sally is in Springfield, Ohio, and would like to know if anyone knows the whereabouts of Joan Davis. Sally is kept busy with a full-time medical practice and two children – Susan, 3, and Michael, 2. She says, "My position in this county is unique in that I am the only Board Certified family practitioner in the county as well as the only woman in general or family practice. My other medical activities consist of being the physician for the Clark County Children's Home and for the foster children in the county, as well as being employee health physician for a local hospital. One month ago I was elected as the only woman member of the Church Council of St. John's Lutheran Church which is the fourth largest Lutheran Church in Ohio. In January of 1974 I hope to have my husband join me in practice as he is now completing a residency in psychiatry. It's a good life if I don't weaken and as long as I can remember where I'm supposed to be at what time." You sound like a very busy gal, Sally. Thanks for taking time to write.

Barbara and Dave Fox moved to North Canton, Ohio, in March. Dave is an account executive and graphic design coordinator with a large printing firm in Stow, Ohio. Their children are Susan, 6, and Derek, now 2. Barbara keeps busy with home and church activities. Mary A. Keefe Johnson and Bob are now in Laguna Beach, Florida, and are enjoying their first child, Eric, who arrived in July.

Was sorry to hear of the recent death of Mr. Michael Houston, who was Director of Admissions at the time we all entered MWC. He has in recent years served as Vice President of the college. I know MWC will miss him.

It has been a busy year for the Wilhelms. In March I took part in the Walk for Mankind for Project Concern and even got my mother involved during her visit. In May, Frank and I spent four glorious days at Connecticut Mutual's Convention in Phoenix, Arizona. And later that month I traveled to Palo Alto, California, for the Junior Woman's Club's state convention. This year both children will be in school and in addition to working, I am serving as president of Oceanside Juniors so I know it will be another busy year. My next deadline is January 10, so please remember to include some news in your Christmas cards.

See you again in '74.

Linkey

Hi Girls,

I didn't receive very much information from you this summer, but I will pass on what has come my way. My thanks go to each of you who took the time to write. When you sit down to fill out your 10th reunion questionnaire, please send me a card with some news for our column. Hard as it is to believe, it will be 10 years this spring!

Diane Dorn Clark sent news of herself and classmates: She and her husband, Bill, have just bought a house in the Mt. Vernon area of Alexandria. They moved in July with their two girls – Ashley, 4½, and Sarah, 1. Barbara Humphries Davenport and Sidney are now living in Richmond with their daughter, Elizabeth, 2½. They were expecting another child in July. Sue Parker Burton and Beverly live in Suffolk with their three daughters; the youngest girl is Margaret Lindsey, who was 1 in October. Thank you very much, Diane.

Best wishes to Ellen Duschock on her marriage to Dennis Mahoney. Speaking of marriages, Joan Dolan was married last October, but I'll let you hear about it in her own words: "I will be graduating from Northeastern University Law School this June (1973) and will be practicing labor law in Boston next year with a large public employees' union. Being a lawyer is a career choice I can't recommend highly enough to those with a very strong feminist streak (mandatory for combating the incredible sexism apparent in both the law itself and in the legal profession) and an active bent. Also, on October 8, 1972, I got married in Shapleigh, Maine, following the successful outcome of my husband's four-year effort to obtain conscientious objector status, and defeat the government's attempts to indict him for refusing induction into the army. My husband is a third-year law student. Won't give you his name since I have retained my name in a Probate Court proceeding and wish to be known by my given name." Joan, it sounds like you've spent an interesting last ten years. Thank you for writing and I'm glad your efforts and those of your husband were ultimately successful.

The Seyers traveled to South Carolina and Rhode Island this summer, but basically we've been taking it easy, since I'm expecting our second child in October. (By the time you read this, I hopefully will have had it!) Lorena is 3½ and very talkative!

Don't forget to return your alumni questionnaire so we'll have a complete "Class Book" for our Homecoming.

Until next time,
Ruth

Hello Friends,

Since our reunion year is close approaching, I hope we all can find time to give the college a summary of our last ten years, not necessarily a monumental task! From the questionnaires you return to the college, I will try my hand at organizing news into our Class of 1964 Reunion Booklet. So please set aside some time for those writing responses as well as your attendance at Homecoming, April 26-27. Adapting the words of our fourth vice chairman, Edna Yudeau, "Getting together with your classmates is very rewarding. You won't regret the little extra time and effort this year to make it all possible."

One sad note that will mar our reunion this year is the loss of some dear people whom we knew and loved while on the Hill in years ago. As this letter goes to press, we are still reeling over the tragic and untimely death of Vice President Michael Houston. His jovial outlook and concern for others will surely be greatly missed.

Since this column can only exist through you and your news, let me pass along some to you. Nancy Bond Beach seems to exemplify the busy modern woman. She has already been working feverishly throughout the summer as chairwomen of the Fairfax Chapter of the MWC Alumni annual boutique. Every spare moment, and concentrated into once-a-week meetings, she is stuffing animals, making puppets, thinking up new craft ideas. But come September she added on another duty – she is an elementary school teacher in Falls Church. Our hats off to you, Nancy!

By January, Jeanne Frank Lee will be a fast busier too. She and Kenny are expecting their third child then. Calm parents, a loving brother and sister, and a home in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia will make a strong welcome for the little one.

There may be time for one more newsletter from your outgoing class agents, then it is on to reunion and the start of a new decade for our class!

Yours,
Judy

A big hello to everyone! It has been quite a while since I've been able to get a column together so I extend my apologies to all who have written in that time.

Sandra Jones Robinson writes that she and husband, Dan, are thoroughly enjoying life with their two sons, Kevin and Kelly. Dan is a concrete contractor and the family will soon be moving to a home which they are building in Clifton, Virginia.

Sandy passes on the news of several classmates. She occasionally sees Betsy Hudgins, who is teaching at Robinson High School in Fairfax. Bonnie Huffman Nutter, who would have graduated with us but got married after sophomore year, is in Florida with husband, Roger and son, Scott. Carolyn Davis Lakin, husband, Bobby, and son, Reuben, are living in Sparta, Virginia. Virginia Mee Hughes Jett and Jimmy were living in Richmond but moved back to King William before son, Scott, was born.

Received a nice letter from Meg Cosbourn John. She and Jimmy are now living in a townhouse in Manassas and she still hears from the following people. Trudy Kitchin Kohl, who transferred after sophomore year, husband Bill, and their children live in snow country – East Syracuse, New York. Donna Lingo Rauch, Eric and their children are living in Clarkston, Washington. Meg frequently sees Lisa Corder Griffin, Barbara Hagemann Hester and their families who all live in the Washington, D.C., area.

Carole Kramer Stockberger and family have spent two interesting and exciting years in Izmir, Turkey, and will soon be returning to Langley A.F.B. in Hampton. She writes that everyone can't wait for a real hamburger and TV again. Can just imagine!

The past year has been one of mixed emotions for me. In October, '72, my mother unexpectedly passed away and my grandmother followed two months later. But good news always seems to accompany the bad. Jack and I are expecting our first child this fall. We are both elated over this new addition to our lives.

We have moved back into Baltimore so if any of you are ever in the area, please get in touch. Would love to hear from you.

Betty

I hope that everyone had a happy summer. Things have really been busy around here lately. We spent all of July packing and moving from a third floor (with 30 steps) to a first floor (with five steps) apartment in the same graduate housing project. Lisa, who will be five in October, will start kindergarten in two weeks at the University of Maryland's Center for Young Children; and in mid-October a new Musgrave is scheduled to arrive. We all vacationed in Norfolk for two weeks in June. While there I visited Mary Lou Skeeter McDaniel in her new colonial style home. Steve did much of the work on it and it's absolutely beautiful! One year old David looks a lot like his dad and is a doll. Mary Lou had news of Brenda Hand Farrell, who had recently moved to Quantico, Virginia.

I hope to hear from more of ya'll soon.

Abbie Donald Tiller, where are you?

Since I last wrote my lifestyle has completely changed. On April Fools Day we became the parents of a darling baby girl, Sara Elizabeth. Her arrival definitely altered our lives. In July we left Georgia and moved back into an apartment in Woodridge as Clyde had orders to Okinawa for late August. Now I am both Mommy and Daddy to Sara for a year.

During our leave we saw several MWC girls. Our visit to my roommate, Candy Schumacher Jepsen proved very pleasant and we were delighted to hear that the Jepsens are expecting their first baby. The baby is due around Sara's birthday, which is ironic as Candy and I share the same birth date. Seeing Susan Bogese McLaughlin enabled us to have a first look at both their new son and home. Jimmy is three weeks older than Sara and quite a boy. The new home is a large colonial style and beautifully decorated. Even with five McLaughlins there is plenty of room.

Tina Palmer Gemmill, '67, and Gary have also purchased a lovely place near Dahlgren. They have a huge yard so Tina can participate in all her sporty events and little Craig has plenty of room to play. Tina is still employed at Dahlgren where she is doing more management than programming.

Carolee Prosise Taylor and Keith didn't buy a new home, but did have to add an addition to make room for twins, David and Brian. The boys keep Carolee on her toes as they seem to go in five different directions at once.

Ryon Stewart Davis was visiting her parents recently and we were able to get together for a most unforgettable trip to Baltimore, on one of the hottest days of the year to visit Nancy Alford Hernandez. Nancy, who is expecting her second child in October, lives in a true Baltimore "row house." She and Dan have done a terrific job in decorating the place. That term of us had a delicious lunch and talked about old times. Ryan's daughter, Sacha, and Nancy's Andrew had a marvelous time playing in the pool while Sara slept through the whole afternoon.

Received a birth announcement from Carol Simmons van der Kieft, '69, before leaving Georgia. It seems that little William Todd arrived early, but weighing over nine pounds at that. We had hoped to visit Carol before leaving the South, but never made it. The van der Kiefts love their new home in Atlanta.

It seems that everyone I know have become new parents or are about to do so. Martha Watson Schmidt, '67, is about to become a Mommy again in November. The Schmidts live in Pensacola, where Joe is a naval flight instructor.

While shopping in Woodbridge, I ran into Michele Berger McQuigg, '70. Michele lives right around the corner from me. She has two darling daughters. I hope to pay her a visit soon and catch up on her news.

A note from Mory Lee Rowe says that she attended graduate school at Boston University from 1969-71. Currently Mary Lee is working as a psychologist at Hogan Regional Center in Danvers, Massachusetts, which is a part of the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health.

It's been a long time since hearing from many of you. Christmas is coming and that's always a good time to catch up on news. Hope to hear from some of you.

Until next time,
Dale

First, I must report on Ryan and family's fantastic visit with us in May. It provided many startling discoveries, not the least of which was that Roger reads this news as avidly as most of us! (You might think our hubbies were trying to gain an insight into our former lives at MWC by sneaking a look at what is printed here!) At any rate, it was wonderful to see you both, and to meet your lovely little Sacha. (It is pronounced "Sasha" for those of you who have been wondering.) Scott and Brett are still talking about their new little friend (Brett still calls her "Zsa Zsa"), and wondering when she's coming back to visit.

Ryan and I were able to catch up on all the news, as well as hash over old times. It was great! We decided that neither of us has changed a bit in the past seven years. The first night they were here, Ryan and I stayed up talking until 5:00 a.m. Then Ken and I convinced the Davises to stay an extra night, to rest up before their trip to Miami, and on back to their current home in Oklahoma, which they don't seem to be too happy with, due to spiders, snakes, lice, tornadoes, and a general longing for the Northwest.

Later news from Ryan is that August was that she and Sacha were driving to Virginia for her brother's wedding in September, and Ryan was looking forward to getting together with many of the old gang while there. Hope to have more on that next time.

A note from Brenda Lay Crowley in June told of their recent move to Gladstone, Missouri. Fred returned from Okinawa in April and is now in school at Park College in Missouri. Brenda says the idea of 18 months in one place sounds great to her!

Nancy Alford Hernandez sent a long and interesting reply to my question of what she's been doing. Her news is that they are expecting baby number two in October. Andy will be about 3½ by then, and Nancy said he is hoping for not one, but two baby sisters. She's afraid, though, that she can't oblige him on that note. Nancy, Dan, and Andrew enjoyed a three-week springtime trip to Yellowstone, Alberta and British Columbia, and the Pacific Northwest. They traveled with Nancy's parents in their camper, and according to Nancy, having a TV and bathtub on board makes camping "something less than rustic."

A note from Mory Wright Day included an adorable photo of daughter, Lynn, who had just celebrated her first birthday. Mary sent the news that Kay Dawson Myers had a baby girl last January, and named her Katherine Sue (Katie).

Barcelona, Spain, is still home base for Barbara Marre. She is still teaching English there and enjoying traveling all over Spain.

What a great summer we've had! My summer project has been fairly successful – both boys are swimming now, Brett just barely, and Scott like a fish. It's hard to believe that this is being written in early September and that the next news deadline is after Christmas. Don't forget to include news with your Christmas cards, and happy holidays to all!

Ginny

The class of 1966 wishes to extend sincere condolences to Diana Hamilton Cowell and her husband, Daniel, on the recent death of their infant son, Joseph Ignatius.

This issue brings a little more news and something special from our house. I handed out report cards to my first graders last June and packed away all the bulletin board supplies. Then on July 12 we had a little girl, Leslie Christine. She is our first child and needless to say it has been a busy wonderful summer and we're enjoying parenthood immensly.

A long letter and picture from Patty Bergin Bergman, '66 – subject, a mini-reunion with "J.J." Charron and her children – Jennifer, 3, and Nick, 1. Ann Kales Lindblom, '66, her children Beth, 3, and Mike, 7 months; and Patty, who has three – two boys and a girl. Wish I could share the picture with all of you. The children are darling and of course the mothers look smashing! Patty writes that they had two reunions, the second with husbands, and everyone had a good time.

A letter from Barbara Clark Bowman, '66, has her traipsing around the country. She managed to hit Washington and Oregon, Mardi Gras, Texas, and New England. Sounds marvelous, dear. What do you do in your spare time? Husband, Michael, finished his post-doctorate work and Barbara is ready to begin her dissertation. Congratulations to both of you on your academic achievements.

Wedding bells rang August 22 for E. Ann Bynum, '66, and James C. Allen. The new Mrs. Allen even let me see a picture of her handsome new mate! They are living in Provo, Utah, in case any other MWC grads are in the area.

Would love to hear from more of you. Please make it a point to put one of the agents on your Christmas mailing list so that we can write news about you. Remember that other people like to read about you as much as you like to read about them . . . and we can't write news, if ye don't!!

Have a nice fall . . .

Hi! I hope everyone had a very pleasant summer.

I was delighted to receive a letter from Lynn Guindon Heflin. Lynn wrote that she and her husband, Rob, are living in Richmond, where Rob is a management associate with United Virginia Bank. On February 8, 1973, they were blessed with a baby daughter, Kristen Rachelle. Lynn wrote that she, Jane Ownby Wells, Mary Turner Boyd, and Kathy Smith Allen had a get together at Kathy's lovely home in Newport News. Mary was a little boy, Brendan, and Kathy, a little girl named Stephanie. Jane also has a little daughter, Carrington.

Anne Fegan Waldruff is living in Falls Church, Virginia, with husband, Bob, and children, Paden, 3½, and Tucker, 1. Bob is a CPA with Price-Waterhouse. Anne and I try to get together at least once a week with our little ones. They run wild as we discuss suburbia trivia over coffee! Anne and Bob have a beautiful townhouse filled with all sorts of interesting and lovely antiques.

Joan Hughes Furlong was in the area for a short visit this summer while Tom was in Canada on business. She brought her two children with her – Jimmy, 4, and Paige, 6 weeks.

My old roommate, Pam Adams, is working in New York City as an administrative assistant to the Vice President of Blue Cross-Blue Shield. Pam's job involves travel through New York State and she really enjoys it.

Linda Todd Puller was in Washington, D.C., for the summer. Lewis was "clerking" at the Veterans Administration, so they rented a townhouse for two months. Toddy brought her sister-in-law, Martha Puller Downs over for a visit one day. Martha has two little boys and is living in Alexandria. Her husband, Michael, is in the Marine Corps and stationed at the Marine Corps Barracks in D.C. It was really fun to see Martha again and over the yelling voices of our combined five children, Toddy, Martha, and I reminisced about MWC.

Earlier in the summer, Susan Wolf Shults was in town visiting her parents as Porter was lucky enough to secure his reserve duty at the Pentagon. Susan's little boy, Ted, is a year and a half, and looks exactly like his mother. Jane Wolfe Stilmar had Susan, Fran Howard, and I over for dinner one night. Jane and her husband had just moved into their home in the Beverly Hills section of Alexandria. Fran is an assistant buyer at Woodward and Lothrop and living in Georgetown.

Blair Hoffman Simmons and husband, Tom, are living in a new townhouse development, Danbury Forest, in Springfield, Virginia. Tom is a stockbroker in Washington, and they have two children – Tom and Beth. During the fall and winter, Blair part-time teaches homebound students.

Patti Eldridge Saldarini and Chuck are living in New Jersey with their two children, Ross and Lynn.

I read in the Washington Post in July of the death of Pat Fisher. Pat was a bookmaster at the National Institute of Health. Our condolences are sent to Pat's family.

It was a lazy summer for the Dilcos. We managed a trip to upstate New York to visit John's family and a week at Rehoboth Beach. We've had an addition to the family since last winter . . . a dachshund puppy named Dexter. He is now nine months old and not yet "potty trained," in addition to being hyperactive and rather neurotic. However, I won't dwell on his faults, since dog experts say that dogs take on the characteristics of their owners! Megnan entered a co-op pre-nursery school, two days a week, this September. It was my hope that she might acquire some of the "social graces" of a two-year-old! John is now a commercial manager with C & P in Washington.

I hope everyone has a pleasant autumn. Please write and let me know what you all are doing. If I receive no letters, I have no column. Take care.

Love,
Susie

I haven't been receiving very much news, so I will tell what I know, in hopes that next time our part of the column will be larger. Judie Fink Turbeville wrote announcing the birth of their first child, a son, on August 25, 1972. They were living in Sacramento, California at the time. I believe her husband, Ken, is in the Air Force.

Connie Burkhart Goggin and Rod have moved to Fredericksburg. Rod graduated from Marshall Wythe School of Law in June. Connie is working as a librarian. Elise Moore Strickland and Don have left New York City, where he worked for the FBI and moved to Connecticut. She is expecting their first child. Betty Borker Price just wrote that she and Skeet are expecting their second. They have become great bicycle enthusiasts – Skeet even rides to work everyday! I spent a pleasant two days with Helen Calahan Hutter and Chris and their daughter, Margaret last summer in Lynchburg. Helen is still burning up the tennis courts and also is expecting their second child.

While visiting my parents in Portsmouth last summer I saw Gayle Atwood Channel. She and husband Warren are running his family's furniture store and Gayle has become quite an accomplished interior decorator.

For the first time in 23 years I did not start any school this fall. I am quite happily retired and awaiting the birth of our first child in November. I am looking forward to motherhood and also to participating in some community activities.

For anybody who would like to see more news in this column next time, please write to me before the end of the year and I will gladly report it.

Mory

Hello! I regret that my homecoming news missed the last issue, but I had already submitted my copy beforehand. Anyway, it was really great seeing those few of you who came. Maybe next time . . . Sandra Smith Monolo is married to Joseph, a mechanic engineer working for the U.S. Naval Weapons Lab. Sandra is a housewife and mother of two boys. Rob, 3, and Michael, 1½, and was expecting a third child in May – haven't heard the results yet!

Anne Tweedy Emerson and her husband, Malcolm, also made it to homecoming. Malcolm is in the Air Force and currently stationed at Langley AFB. He's flying the F-106 and having the time of his life according to Anne. She has given up teaching, etc., and is just enjoying being a housewife – mostly goofing off! She plays some golf and bridge whenever she can. Some news from her old roomies is interesting. Barbara Hardy Coon is in Nacogdoches, Texas, where her husband, John, is going to school. Barbara and Teddy have been since they were married. Teddy is with Union Carbide and they have two attractive children, a boy and a girl. Tama Rockwell Taylor (freshman and sophomore years) and her husband, Marvin, who is in the insurance business, have just moved to Staunton. They have a son, Sam, who is four and are expecting another child in the summer.

Stephonie Danehy Shelhorse was also at homecoming and now living back in the 'burg although her husband, Jimmy, is managing in the Los Angeles area for Freeman Distributers. I'm hoping they'll move up here soon! They are also adding to the population explosion — as it seems so many in my column are this time — in September. They have a two-year-old girl, Mary Stedd.

My sister-in-law, Louise Shick Jargowsky, is also expecting in October — can you believe that?!! I know those of you who have her will be as excited about as I was. It happens to the best of us and most of us don't regret it a bit! She has stopped teaching temporarily, but is still the great all-around homemaker with canning, gardening, needlework, etc.

I also received a letter from Helen Sullivan Lovelace, who is living in Elizabeth City, North Carolina. She is expecting in November — their first and they have been preparing (redecorating, etc.) an old house before then time is consumed with other things. They are both glad to be civilians again and Bobby is again with Crawford and Company, Insurance.

I was also forwarded some information concerning Mary James Wright, who is teaching speech at Charles County Community College in southern Maryland. She says it's quite an enjoyable job and leaves her enough time to civilize her son, Christopher.

Charlotte Shelton is still struggling to finish her Ph.D. in history at UVa. Mary writes, Ann Campbell Wright graduated from the University of Northern Colorado with a masters degree in social science.

Anne Tooke, '68, and April Tooke, '75, spent June and July, 1973 on their own in Europe. They toured Spain, Italy, and Great Britain — also Amsterdam, Paris, and Nice. It sounds like the tour was as grand as Anne had anticipated it being when she was telling us about it at homecoming. (She looks really great!)

As you can see, we've moved again — still not very far from Fredericksburg — Maybe someday I'll make it!! Bob is in graduate school at American University in International Affairs — compliments of the Army — so we moved up the road about 30 miles. It's fun having a student around!! Sean is already a year plus and walking — rather running all over. It's really great exercise for me. When he naps, though, I have been avidly watching the Watergate hearings — interesting, huh? Please give me a call or stop by if you're in the area and all of you who are about to give birth, earn degrees, or have something unique to add, please write!!

Gail

Well, it's been a long time since I've had any news to report, but I finally have a fair amount, keep those cards and letters coming in ladies. First, about us — we've bought a new house here in Woodbridge. One of those love-at-first-sight deals. We'll be moving at the end of September, so please note the new address. Jonathan, at 2½, keeps me hopping but I still have time for Layce Wynn at the substitute teaching. We hope to adopt another child next spring, an infant, but there are so few babies up for adoption that it might be quite a while yet. With Jonathan going through the "terrible two's" I'm just as content to wait.

Last spring I did get the opportunity to see several of our classmates. We had a mini-reunion with Sally Goffney Meredith and her husband, Bob. They had just returned from Mexico and were on their way to California, where Bob is going to school. Ann Scott Lankey, Kenny, and baby daughter, Rebecca, came up for the day from Richmond. Ann is still working at A. R. Robins and Kenny is an architect. They've bought some land in the country and are thinking of building a home in the near future. Cheryl Crisman Ragsdale also joined us from the Richmond area. Betty Coates came down from Bel Air, also. In September she will be attending George Washington University working on a masters degree in special studies. It's a new program that will let her design her own program as long as at least 50 percent of her hours are in the College of Arts and Sciences. She plans to combine geography with a variety of management and business administration courses. This summer she planned to fly to Colorado, rent a car, and drive down the coast highway. Sounds great! Brenda Quick Caricofe and her husband, Ken, also joined us. They live right here in Woodbridge, but I hadn't realized it until Ann told me. Ron sells real estate and Brenda is teaching second and third grade with a team in a year-round school here in the county. I've subbed at her school several times and the open concept classroom is great (not to mention but I don't know how the teachers keep their sanity!

I've also seen quite a bit of Gail Jargowsky Farmer and Sally Scarton Harrison these days. Gail, Bob, and Sean are living in Alexandria, while Bob is going to graduate school. Sally, Gene, and their son, Ward, live here in Woodbridge now since Gene is teaching PE in the county. They're expecting their second child this fall.

I missed the reunion in April because of our trip to Florida but Gail brought me back news of several A's and B's. Susan Bottimore and her husband are finally out of service and graduate school and now live in Richmond, where they've bought a house. Milton is with the Division of State Planning as a community planner. They were expecting a baby this summer — let us know, Susan. Lynn Dee Armstrong Garrison and her husband just returned from a couple of months in Europe and are now living in Roanoke. Sarah Witten Barron was with freshmen and sophomores and then juniors at UVa, in nursing. She and Billy were in the Air Force for a time, but are now back in Culpeper. Billy is teaching and managing Burger King. They have two daughters. Juanita Fisher Perry, '69, and her husband are in Chesapeake. Jack is still flying with the Navy. Jane Porter Jones, '67, and her husband, Richard, are at Ft. Bliss, El Paso, Texas. Mary Lippy Booker, '67, and her husband, Derwin, are living in Richmond. They have a son, Trey, who is one.

Via the Alumni Association I heard from Robin Brodbeck Bryant that husband, Ward, spent his last year as a naval officer on shore duty in Viet Nam while Robbie worked in a hospital in New Jersey. When he returned they spent eight months in Europe with a VW camper having a fantastic time and, as she put it, "making lots of wonderful memories." They have now settled down and bought a home in San Juan Capistrano and are awaiting the birth of their first child. Ward works with the Orange County Probation Department counseling teenage boys who have committed all kinds of offenses. Robin has been working as a speech pathologist in Newport Beach, dealing with children with varied disorders and with hearing problems. She hopes to continue at least part-time after the baby is born.

The Association also sent word from Fran Rodgers Brown. Their second child was born in March of 1972 and they are presently awaiting a release from active duty in the Navy. They plan to return to Virginia Beach to practice law although Julian will remain active in the Naval Reserve in Norfolk.

I received a nice letter from Connie Stewart Etter. She says that even though she graduated in '67 she started with us and still feels like a '68er. She married in 1968 at USNA during June of 1967 and became Mrs. William Paul Etter II. They have two children, Kerryles Joanne, born January 8, 1969, and Christopher William (April 24, 1971). When the children are in school Connie plans to either extend her B.A. or get an M.A. At present she is doing volunteer work with the Red Cross and writing a historical novel, in her spare time, which she admits isn't much. They've been at Camp Pendleton for a year and have bought a house in Oceanside, California. For a short while they lived next to Louise Gurley Berger, '67, and Roger at Camp LeJeune. Since living in California she has run into Carolyn Murphy Heitzman and Gordon. They are leaving the Navy, probably going to Florida. They have two girls, Shirley Marie, 2, and Paula Jo, 1.

I also received a nice note from Kristin Peterson Driscoll. In 1970 she married Jim, whom she had met at Quantico earlier that year. They moved to Boston, where he finished up his MBA at Harvard Business School. Now they're in Ithaca, New York, where Jim is working on a doctoral program at Cornell's School of Labor and Industrial Relations. Kris really enjoys her job as product publicity manager for both the Ithaca Gun Company and the 10X Manufacturing Company. Talk about women's lib — she reports directly to the vice president of the company, travels every couple of months, and even has her own expense account. She says she's really putting her English major to good use as she spends 70 percent of her time writing and editing.

Please let me hear from more of you. Put me on your Christmas card list right now and just let me know how you're doing with a short note.

Sincerely,
Judy

Let me share several letters from '68ers over the summer which will bring you up to date on their happenings. Sue Reed Culp relayed the news that Franny Scevallo is still in New York, working for Dunn and Bradstreet and taking grad courses part-time. Merche Chaszek Kurth lives in San Diego, California, with her Marine Corps husband and their two-year-old daughter. Betty Scott Pope has moved to Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, where her husband, Joe, will teach college and finish up his dissertation. Their daughter, Mary Beth, is almost two. Sue and her husband are still in Connecticut, where George is principal of a school with a smiling baby girl, Julie Anne!

Jane Walentic Rehl writes that she is finishing her Ph.D. at Rutgers University in Newark. This will also be her second year of teaching Survey of Art History. In addition, she has worked as assistant curator of the Fine Arts Collection, produced and directed two exhibitions, and has written two catalogs which will be published next year by Print Collectors Quarterly and Art in America. Jane adds that she will be spending Christmas in Afghanistan.

Susan Wagner Buelow spent a busy summer at home in Illinois with her husband and two daughters. Lawson Stillman Greenwood and Jerry welcomed little Todd to their family in June, so Bob has a little brother to contend with now! Lawson worked with Lynn Dee Armstrong Garrison on an MWC alumni marriage sale this summer and they enjoyed that venture. She also heard from Jill Robinson Burkert, who lives in Sarasota, Florida, where she, Mike, and four-year-old Bret enjoy weekends on their new boat.

I was fortunate to have Sharon Simpson Brown and Mill spend a weekend with me in August. They brought "Little Mill" with them after dropping off Nicole and Tammy at Grandma's, and we had fun catching up on all the news and poring over picture albums.

Pam MacPhee Gibert and Paul enjoy their new role as parents, and Jennifer is a doll so it's easy to see why they do. Pam relayed the happy news that her MWC roommate, Janice McKay Parker and husband, Mike, had their first child, Michael, Jr., this summer.

Steve and I have witnessed big changes in our lives since my last article. In June Steve received word that he'd been accepted to the FBI Academy — a decision which we had waited and hoped for since last December. He reported to Quantico, Virginia, on July 21, for 14 weeks of training, but before he left were able to take a two-week trip to Europe. We spent some time with my brother who is stationed near Frankfurt, Germany, and we saw parts of Austria, Switzerland, Germany, and Holland during our travels. When Steve began his training I stayed in Amherst so I could keep working, but I will join him in Virginia in October and we'll be assigned there temporarily until our baby is born. (Please note change of address.) By January we should be proceeding to Steve's first assignment as a special agent! He's so enthusiastic about his new job — it's great to see him so happy in his work. All our lives have been filled with good changes this year and we're excited about all of our upcoming adventures — especially that of becoming parents.

We wish all of you happy holidays this December, and I look forward to trying to keep us all in touch in 1974 . . . with your help!

Hi, again. . . this issue brings news from some "long lost" classmates. I was very pleased to hear from you!! Keep writing!

"Chibba" Watters Miller and Wayne are living in Tallahassee, Florida, where Wayne is in law school at Florida State. Chibba is teaching after suffering through night school to get those education courses!!! They were married June 16 in Chibba's backyard — sounds like a beautiful wedding. Tee Johnson Atherton, Pam Hogan Baynard, and Pam Gooch were in the wedding.

Another note from Janis Purdy Brewer brought lots of news. She's been "out of touch" with MWC since graduation, and had a lot of experience to relate. She was married in June, 1969, to John Brewer, taught history in Maryland for 3½ years, and then retired to have a baby, Sarah Anne, born December 30, 1972!! John works for a D.C. newspaper, "Sentinel," and they live in Odenton, Maryland. She sent news about some other "old forgotten" classmates!! Gloria Holland has her masters in library science from UNC and is librarian now at VCU, Richmond. . . Betty Olander Adams and hubby, Alec, live in the Baltimore area. Betty is with an insurance company and Alec, now out of the USMC, is back in school . . . also in Baltimore is Anne Towson Wells with her husband, Frank. She is a therapist at the Greater Baltimore Medical Clinic's Eye Clinic. . . Chris Phillips Farhood and Bill are in New York City. . . so thank you, Janis for all the news!!! (Hope you find that farm you're looking for!)

Karen Anne Jones Rogers was married to Lan on May 19, 1973. They're "hitched" and are living in Arlington . . . Back from Germany is Frances Smith Armstrong. She was looking for a teaching job where I last heard. Chris will be coming "stateside" in October hopefully we can all get together in time for s wedding which will be held that month — Kathleen Rowon and Steve Brown!!

I saw Ellen McGhee Jumper and her baby girl, Cathy . . . What an adorable little child!! Ellen is, of course, ecstatic, and it was good to see her. She and Johnny will hopefully be back from England next summer, "permanently" stationed on the east coast.

Our little Brad is growing like a cancer! He . . . five months old, two teeth, and crawling already!!! He's a joy!! Ken and I can't remember ever not having him. He has really filled our lives. Let me hear from "you all" again; also some more new faces!!

Ruth Ann

Now that summer is over and most of us are back into our winter schedules, I hope to hear from a few more former classmates. It's been a long, dry summer, with only very faithful correspondents coming through.

Johnnie and I travelled back to Virginia in June and took two of our friends from New Jersey with us. We got to enjoy those wonderful mountains again and also introduce our friends to the beauty of Virginia. I'm substitute teaching again this year, and staying busy with several other local organizations.

While Eloise Bell Sloan was on vacation in Europe this summer I received a letter from her husband, Tom. He said Eloise was visiting Spain, Greece and Italy on her tour. They're still living in Norfolk and Eloise is teaching calculus this year.

Eloise's old roommate, Linda Thomas Bosley, writes that she's enjoying married life — even though Bruce's job keeps him away from home for long hours. Her sister-in-law, Linda Bosley Lewis, '55, is living in Blacksburg with husband Steven and children Jennifer, two years, and Geoffrey, almost one. Steve is working on his Ph.D. in zoology.

Linda Wells Gage's big news is that she'll be a mother in January. Tony finishes his state trooper training in October, so they should find out where he'll be stationed soon.

Linda Sargent Kaufman attended Jon Webster MacDonough's wedding on June 23. Jon Webster and husband Guy Scheid live in Washington, Pennsylvania, where Guy is an urban planner with the city. Also at their wedding were Ann McCombs and Joan Perviler Bollenbacher with her 1½-year-old son Dickie.

Linda Heath Sykes is a teacher's aide in a fourth grade class in Memphis this year. Mike is now in training with a bank there.

Vaughn Smith Cooper wrote that she made several trips east this summer, but is now back in California working for Family Services on base as well as doing work with the Red Cross in the bookkeeping office of the base hospital. As if that weren't enough to keep her busy, on Jack's days off they have been enjoying backpacking in the California mountains.

It's not too early to start thinking about Homecoming in the spring. It will be our five-year reunion, and I'll be looking forward to seeing many familiar faces. Until then I'll have to settle for letters, so get out your pens and paper and let me know you're really out there reading this letter!!

Gail

After missing a column in the last issue, I'm glad some new people were able to fill me in on themselves and friends. I never knew a city person could keep me so busy . . . and then the streams of visitors didn't help either! Our Beth arrived on January 25 and she's certainly "Daddy's little girl" or my pal, as Gene says, though not for long. There will be nothing dainty about her, I'm sure, and she she'll be going to construction sites and Eagles' football games with him. Speaking of football teams, it looks like CeCe Smith Riffer and Bill are well on their way to having one; son, Cory, was joined by twin brothers, Stephen and David, on July 7 . . . quite a surprise to Mommy! My only word from CeCe so far has been "Help!" but I trust she'll adjust beautifully and soon be a "Super Mommy"!

It was good to hear from Barbara Marks Poppleton who sent news of the Mason fourth floor crowd. Barbara, Don and Valerie, who were married December 11, are living in Pittsburgh, where Don is a cost analyst for Mellon Bank. Barbara and Valerie were able to get together with some alumni while visiting her parents last February. They all met at Trent Costley Clark's home in Fairfax. Trent and Chuck have a one-year-old daughter, Stephanie, whom Barbara says is not a punster yet! Chuck works for Gulf and they were being transferred to Orlando, Florida, in August, a move they were happy about, especially since they would be close to Disney World. Barbara also saw Connie Clore Buldt; Mitch has a dental practice in Woodbridge and they are enjoying their year-old son, Jay. Martha Pickard Zink, '70, was also at Trent's with her son, Doug, who's about two. They live in Baltimore and spend a lot of the summer at Bethany Beach, Delaware, although they had made a trip to Europe in May; as Martha's father is stationed in Paris.

Barbara also informs us that Jane Jackson was teaching in Columbia, South Carolina, last year but was hoping to get a new position in northern Virginia. Let us know, Jane! Her roommate, Connie Hixson had spent the summer of '72 in Europe. Koren Kilgore Ralston and Jim are in Cincinnati, where he is in a law firm and Koren is teaching. Ann Royburn Peach is teaching in northern Virginia and her suitemate Mory Poi Tull is teaching elementary school in Newport News.

I'm sure the class offers condolences to Linda Moretti Disoway on the loss of her sister, Jill. But Linda and John's first daughter, Allison, was born in April and they are living in Big Spring, Texas, where John is in the Air Force. Barbara also mentioned that her sister, Dee Marks Duncan, '66, and her husband, Butch, both teach in Manassas and spent the summer — with Billy, 3, of course! — in Ocean City, New Jersey, at their new condominium. Thanks for all the news, Barbara!

Well, then I had a nice newsy letter from Jean Polk Hanky, who married Jack on June 2 in Richmond. Jean is still working for the Defense Supply Agency and Jack is vice-president of a mortgage company. Beth Stewart Coleman was Jean's matron-of-honor and shortly thereafter moved to Brunswick, Georgia, where Wayne is a Navy lieutenant. He graduated from MCV dental school in May, and their son, John, is now two years old. Sandy Mock was also one of Jean's bridesmaids; she transferred to Western Kentucky University after sophomore year and later shared an apartment in Richmond with Jean, Beth and Deanne Dabbs.

Jean and Jack met *Christy Winehold*t Warman and her husband Phil at a cocktail party in Manassas. They have a girl and a boy and in her "spare time" Christy dabbles in real estate. Nonny Leonard Holzwanger had a boy in March; her husband, Jay, was interning at MCV this past year. Jean had also run into Frances Dreizbach Marley who has a new daughter, Jennifer; they live in the Tuckahoe area of Richmond.

Despite my poor correspondence, I have heard from Lynn Howell Gray in Liberia. She and Jim seem to be right at home now and are enjoying their teaching, although it is quite time-consuming. They've been doing a lot of traveling and are visited frequently by other Peace Corps members and have even started weekly volleyball games with them. I'm sure Lyn and Jim would love more mail and news from home.

Dwight and Jean Montpole Duncan are expecting their first child in October and they've naturally been busy fixing up the nursery for the arrival. The same year suite of Jean, Kay Bardon Snow, Anne Ball Gavin and Katherine Caffee Gompf got together this summer at Anne and John's home in Norfolk. The Snows are expecting baby number 2 and will be going to Okinawa in February. Kat and Mike moved into a house in Portsmouth this summer and Mike has been made an officer in the bank.

Joan Myslek received her master's degree from Rutgers University this past May. I saw Jeannine Zovrell Fearns at a chapter alumni luncheon here in August. She had a lot of company this summer and is enjoying not working for a while!

That's about all my news. The Julians will be busy with odds and ends this fall, possibly a trip to North Carolina and my sister is being married Christmas week. Next deadline, by the way, is January 10, so mark it down and I'll expect to hear from you at Christmas!

Dear Fellow Alumni,

Wow! How the time flies and I am long overdue for a column of news. The news is slow in coming my way out here in not so sunny, but plenty smoggy, southern California. My address has been incorrect in the alumni news recently, so for the record I am at 13802 Tustin East, Apt. 62, Tustin, California 92680. Maybe now my mailbox will be overcrowded with news from people who couldn't find me previously.

I received a letter recently from Kim Worren. She is now Mrs. Robert Noe and living in Bishopville, South Carolina. She and Bob are both teaching, she second grade and he high school. Diane Mowrey is st graduate school at Duke University and also has an assistantship there. Last heard, Diane was fascinating her first freshman composition class. Gee Diane, does that remind you of freshman comp at MWC???

Susan Taylor Frank is still teaching fourth grade in Maryland while her husband attends George Washington Medical School. Ann Hize was on here in California visiting my husband and me. We had a great time, and of course living so near Anaheim meant a trip to Disneyland. It was great seeing Ann. She is presently teaching art to elementary children at the Marine Corps base school in Quantico. While she was here, we had a mini-reunion with Jon McNiel Holcomb, Jan Hempson Floom, and Charlotte Settle Lees. Jan Hempson Floom and Merv are the very proud parents of a beautiful little girl, Tammy. Jan McNiel Holcomb was reunited recently with her husband, Bill, after his one-year tour overseas with the Marine Corps. Arbelle McAdam D'Amours expects to be back out here in California as soon as Ron comes home from Thailand in November of this year. It will be great seeing her again. I've been trying to locate several people from the class of '71. Who can help please? Last heard Linda Crawford was working in New Orleans! Linda, are you still there? Kay Samuel Rogers and husband, Bill, were last seen at the Wallis Creek Boathouse, Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, and they haven't been heard from since.

A special hello was asked to be passed along to Koren Kinne, Linda Dunmon, Danielle Kelley, and any others from the old Liverseage "Gang," from Mark Stjerne and Doug O'Connor formerly of the same group while in the Marine Corps.

That's all the news for now. Maybe since my address is now corrected, I'll hear from many more people than I have in the past. Have a great fall!!!

Hi, Everybody!

I've been hearing all about weddings and babies lately so I thought I would let everyone know about them.

Diane Hicks and Bob Kash were married in Fredericksburg in July. Among the guests were Brenda Pritchett Boyles, Ellefyn, Robert Johnson, Stevi Smith Moore and Debbie Bouche.

Julie McClelland and Dean Constantine were married in Washington, D.C., in May and are now living in Manassas in a log cabin on a lake and have two big dogs to bring the pipe and slippers. Right out of a storybook, Julie, and very romantic! Julie is working as a bank receptionist, which, she says, allows her to drink a lot of coffee with the customers! Dean is a graduate of the University of Virginia and is presently working as a associate engineer with IBM.

I know I'm rather late spreading the news about this wedding but I know that Brenda will forgive me. Brando

Pritchett and Howell Johnson Boyle, were married in Richmond in April.

Brenda and John live in Falmouth and John works for the Naval Weapons Laboratory in Dahlgren. Brenda works for the Spotsylvania Welfare Department.

Among the happy events that I heard about was that Barbara Vick Meyer had a baby boy July 17. I think that Barbara and Ned deserve a medal for planning, since Thad was born on their second wedding anniversary! Congratulations, Ned and Barbara!

Marge Rozmann Tankersley, '69, has a baby girl July 2 and is now Marge's full-time job.

Betty Bornhardt and Randy Hume, '72, were married in North Carolina in August.

Susan Harder is working on her Ph.D. in history of photography at the University of New Mexico. Susan has started a corporation to provide slides of photographs to museums and slide libraries which will give her lots of travel allowance so she can visit all of her friends! When are you coming to Switzerland, Susan?

Sue Kain is teaching kindergarten in Washington, D.C., and really loves it. Pat Kilfefer was promoted to supervisor of eligibility workers with the Spotsylvania Welfare Department and just loves her job! Go, Patty! Patty and her sister came over and visited Anita and me in June – I'm afraid that all the dirt I could put in this article would be censored so I'll just keep my typewriter shut! We had a great time as you can imagine and unfortunately time went by too fast.

Shelley Cooper Golder and Bruce are living in Claymont, Delaware, where Bruce has been promoted to manager of Braunstein's. Shelley loves playing mother to Sammy which she says keeps her constantly busy! Don't I know!

Brenda Britain Miller, '70, and Art are on the State Farm bowling team in Virginia Beach and I hear that they are breaking all kinds of national records since Brenda found out how to hold the ball correctly with the correct fingers!! Good going, Brenda!

I'm afraid that's all the news I have for this time, but you just keep those cards and letters coming, folks, and I'll take care of everyone!

Greetings, dear class of '72!!

A year's activity is a lot to cover, but thanks to responses to phone calls and postcards, I do have a little bit of news to pass along.

This past June I received my M.Ed. from U.Va. — loved every minute in Charlottesville! I am now teaching fourth grade in Alexandria. Pat Borrow received her M.Ed. from the University of Arizona this August. She took her final courses in summer school at Guadalajara, Mexico, while living with a Spanish-speaking family! Pat is now teaching second and third grades in Virginia Beach, Connie Ward, Carky Herring, Judy Tunkersly, and Bobbie Tuttle all received their master's in speech from the University in June, and Lois Fox Kerr completed her master's in dramatic arts from there in August, 1972.

Ann Fonsler is in grad school at Emory University in Atlanta. Also working on her master's is Pam Landreth. She is studying geography at the University of Maryland and planned to work with Economics Research Associates for the summer. Vicky Silek will finish a degree in library science from UNC in December, and Dodie Driscoll will finish in physical therapy at Penn in October. Nancy Thornton is in Richmond, studying medicine at MCV. Last Easter, Renie Eis became engaged to John Sheehan. Since he is still in the Army, the wedding is planned for about a year from now. Meanwhile, Renie is doing graduate work in biochemistry at Wake Forest. Signe Pabst Minor will finish up courses in speech at St. Cloud University in Minnesota and will receive her MA next summer. My roommate, Patty Young, has begun graduate studies in school psychology at Seton Hall in South Orange, New Jersey.

Last year Patty taught severely emotionally disturbed boys at Alpine Baisne Child Treatment Center in Allaire, New Jersey. Wanda Duff Mason has begun her second year teaching sixth graders in Williamsburg, Virginia. Husband George, is attending law school. Dee Tabachik Dziubinski was a junior kindergarten teacher at Birchwood School in Arlington last year, as well as clerk typing for the Agency for International Development. After a wedding trip to Jamaica, she and her husband are living in Reisterstown, Maryland, where Phil is a chemical engineer for Baltimore Gas and Electric Co.

Dee wrote that roommate, Robin Palmer (a bridesmaid in her wedding) taught third grade last year in Hampton and will teach at Fort Monroe again this year. Other MWCers in Hampton are Tudi Brooks, Jan Donaldson Morgan (husband, Dave, is stationed at Fort Monroe), Penny Keller (teaching English), Martha Stansell (teaching biology), Paige Snead Barker (teaching at Hampton High), and Megan Schell (teaching fifth grade).

Marilyn Pucello – the source of much of my news – has returned to Newport News Intermediate School. Sarah Green Byrne married Mr. Marilyn last year, but is now at York High School. Jan Moore taught American Government at Churchland High in Suffolk. (This summer she and Rob splurged and spent a month traveling through Europe!) Cathy Giles taught English in Henrico County and Estelle Cowman taught in Prince William County. Alan Little Miszkewski works with truant children, while husband, John, coaches football at King George High School, and "Vi" Gregg Winston has returned to teach math at Princess Anne High School in Virginia Beach.

Not everyone is teaching school, however! Brenda Franklin works for the Navy at Bethpage in Long Island and Eileen Reynolds works for Phizer Drug Co. in New York City. Ellen Taylor is a receptionist-secretary for a personnel agency in Boston. Kristie Davis Clay and George are in Sherham, New York, where Kristie works in a bank. Sharon Wilkins Cockrell and Ashby live in Montross, and if Jerry's orders hold, he and Karen Kuecker Smalley are now in Germany!

Donna Coates is assistant buyer at Thalhimer's in Richmond. Robin Davidson Smith and Bill are living in Columbia, Virginia. Julia Hood is a secretary with American Forestry in D.C. She shares an apartment with Ruth Laird, who is a training master teacher in the D.C. schools. Marilyn tells me that Bobbe Pilz does layouts for a magazine in D.C. Alice Powers Kane was assistant camp director for a summer camp at the YMCA in Los Angeles. Abby Brooks has set up her own pottery business at her home in Pennsylvania.

While in Charlottesville, I continually ran into MWCers. Alison Woody and Brenda Coleman Fidler finished the nursing school and worked this past year at the University Hospital. Brenda's husband, Mike, is in the medical school. Genny Pore (also married now) was in C'ville, as was Lynn Hoffman, Linda Kennard, Sue Ridd, and Steff Sweeny. Steff's husband is in the graduate business school.

I keep in touch with several transfers from the college. Nancy Samuelson finished at Texas Women's University in Dallas. Last year she taught educable mentally retarded children, and after a month's vacation in Europe, she is now teaching children who require behavior adjustment. In addition to teaching, Dany is working on her master's. Pam Garrett Eager finished first in her class in physical therapy at Boston University! She and Tom are living in Cambridge, while Tom completes his Ph.D. in chemistry at MIT. James Marcuson Bowles finished at VCU in physical therapy. I attended her marriage to Ray this August, and Signe Pabst Minor was a bridesmaid.

Signe and Janet and I helped Irene Kosciw Sines celebrate her marriage to Tom this summer after graduation. Patty Young was a bridesmaid. I also attended Lois Fox Kerr's wedding last Thanksgiving for which Gayle Blackstone Fox and Julia Hood were bridesmaids. Gayle married Lois's brother, Eric, in September of '72, and Lois was maid-of-honor. Gayle and Eric live in Virginia Beach, where Gayle is a real estate agent with Anchor Realty and Eric is a stockbroker with Merrill-Lynch. Lois taught in Jacksonville, North Carolina, last year while Phil was "employed" with the Marines. They are now in California, as Phil has begun law school at the University of the Pacific.

Eileen Candike Togashi was married at her home this August. She and Kyoshi are both photographers in D.C. Jane Danforth Judd married a VMI grad, and they are in the process of moving to Virginia Beach. Pat Cummings Ledvina was married in the Chapel at the Naval Academy. Adelle Marshall Coniff was a bridesmaid and Pat was matron-of-honor at Adelle's marriage to Martin this summer in the University Chapel in Charlottesville. Martin graduated from the law school and will be employed with a firm in New York. Nancy Mahone Elmore wrote of her wedding in September to Bob. Roommate Martha Stansell was maid-of-honor, and Cathy Giles and Bob's sister, Susan Elmore, '70, were bridesmaids. Bob is attending pilot training at Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, Georgia. Nancy taught fourth grade part of the year and currently writes a column for the Jacksonville, Florida, newspaper.

The sole representatives from the Class of '72 at Homecoming last spring were Marsilla, Brenda Franklin, Dodie Driscoll and I. Hope to see more of you there this year!! Until then, please, please, please send me news of yourself and classmates! We're all interested in where you are and what you're doing.

Looking forward to haaring from each of you soon!

Fredericksburg, Va. 22401

As you can see by my address, I just could not leave Fredericksburg for good after graduation. I am happily teaching sixth grade and glad to be back in familiar surroundings. There are others here in the area with me: an interesting phone call with Sharon Richmond provided me with names and occupations of several fellow graduates: Sharon is teaching high school math here in the city; Ray Cote is at James Monroe, also, teaching history.

Stafford County has a number of recent MWC grads: Millie Dunnon is teaching high school English; Mary Sue Warren – junior high geography; Nancy Baughn and Debby Beauregard are busy with junior high math. Nancy, by the way, is still playing basketball at MWC every night! Ann Apostolou has her hands full with junior high historians. Linda Kerwin is kept running in the elementary school.

Spotsylvania received a few familiar faces also: Betsy Mozery in first grade and Hazel Moss in junior high math.

Several devoted mathematicians migrated to Dahlgren. Among the number are Nancy Purham, Judy Bumbrey and Nancy Smith Raines. Nancy graduated in December and heard her own wedding bells shortly afterwards.

The teaching profession captured many in other areas. Ruth Sike is in Roanoke City, teaching second grade math. Debby Heiman teaches Spanish in Fauquier County. Janet Hedrick enjoys her teaching math in Stafford. Theresa Rottman has a math position in a new, open-spaced middle school in Richmond.

Some of us just could not leave school; if we're not teaching, we're being taught. Susan Poats is studying anthropology at the University of Florida at Gainesville. Virginia Baker (GB) is at home in Nashville, Tennessee, working at Vanderbilt on her MAT in German. Ann Salter is busy in New York, studying history. One day, she may be back at MWC, not as a visitor, but as a professor!

The working world can claim their own also: Susan Cahill is in Puerto Rico with Vista. Debby Stone is showing off restored 18th century buildings in Colonial Williamsburg. Allinda Vanderveer (Lindy) is back in politics, working for the Republican Research Committee on Capitol Hill.

Among announcements of wedding plans was that of Susan Lane. Susan, presently working for a company near VCU, will be married in November to Peter Adams, an employee at Dahlgren.

That's about it, but admittedly, there should be more news. I need your help; it is a group project to keep the news circulating, so please let me know where you are and what you're doing. Even a short note or postcard or torn scrap of paper – anything will do! Take a good luck in whatever you are doing, and let's keep the postman busy!

Susan Baril Bourne
857 Malabu Dr., Apt. 62
Lexingtoe, Ky. 40503

Here it is five months after we all graduated. I'm sure the time has passed as quickly for you as it has for me. After getting married in June to Royce Bourne, I continued my summer work in the courthouse. I am now teaching fourth grade near Lexington.

Pat Watz is currently working for Eastern Auto Parts in Norfolk, where she seems to be writing her hand off. The last I heard of Happy Anderson, she had hurt her ankle and was having to wear a boot and all the rest. Sue Basile is busy planning for her November wedding. Anne Gray Jones is teaching math in Virginia Beach. Joining her in the same locality is Linda Bridgeford teaching elementary school.

School is finally over for Sallie Carter at UVa where she received her degree in medical technology. She is now working at the UVa Hospital. Kathy Daley Buckley is living in Philadelphia, where her husband is attending medical school. Elizabeth Parks is now planning to attend Katherine Gibbs business school for graduates in Boston. This summer she spent a month in Australia vacationing and visiting her relatives. Patty Marshall is still in Europe having a great time. What a life!

That is all the owns I've heard. I know you were all busy this summer and letter writing time was scarce, but please let me hear from more of you soon. I'd like this column to be more newsy next time.

Susie
